Coonskin Cap Lands In Political Ring; Bricker In Line For Ohio GOP Nod

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's political pot boiled with new ingredients today as Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) tossed his coonskin cap into the ring of presidential aspirants and Ohio's Republican party named Sen. John Bricker as its "favorite son."

While the Bricker nomination was relatively a token move, the Kefauver action was dead serious. The Tennessean said he wanted to be nominated for President by the Democrats and said he would enter as many state primary elections as time and money would permit.

Kefauver, who led in the early balloting at the 1952 party convention but lost the nomination to Adlai E. Stevenson, said he plans a vigorous campaign.

Stevenson already has announced he will enter five primaries. Kefauver is expected to meet Stevenson head-on in some of these.

Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio has announced as a favorite son candidate, but Kefauver supporters are waiting to see whether Lausche is a serious candidate for the Democratic nomination.

"If Lausche later says he will try for senator or governor, then we will be pretty sure he is not serious about the presidency," a source close to the Tennessean says.

This will be one thing that Kefauver will have to consider, this source said, before the Tennessean decides whether to go into Ohio and compete for delegates.

One Kefauver backer said the senator might run against Lausche if he were sure he wouldn't be in-facting himself into a "family squabble" among Ohio's Democrats.

Kefauver said in a statement handed out at a news conference today that he thinks "it is a good thing for the Democratic party to have a choice of candidates for the presidential nomination."

"The Republican party today suffers from lack of alternative candidates broadly representative of their party," Kefauver said.

"It would not be a healthy thing for the Democratic party to be placed in such a position."

He added: "I am a firm believer in the place of presidential primaries in our democracy. Beyond the limiting factor of my work in the Senate, the amount of money available for campaigns, and the possibility of conflicting dates, I will hope to enter as many as I can."

Kefauver already had announced that if he ran he would enter the June 5 California primary where a slate for Stevenson is expected to go on the ballot. Stevenson also will be entered in Minnesota, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Florida.

The nomination of Bricker as the Ohio Republican "favorite son" was expected to come late this afternoon. Originally, the announcement had been set for about noon. But informed sources indicated there was no doubt but what Bricker would get the nod.

The Ohio delegation thus would be under Bricker as spokesman, awaiting a decision by President Eisenhower as to a second term.

U.N. Security Council Seat Up For Vote

Philippines, Yugoslavia Deadlocked As Nations Brace For Balloting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—With its scheduled adjournment only hours away, the U. N. General Assembly headed into its sixth round of balloting today to try to break the deadlock over a disputed Security Council seat.

The United States again pledged its support for the Philippines, Communist Yugoslavia, backed by the Soviet Union, and the Philippines are tied in the contest for the seat after a record 29 ballots. There was, however, growing belief that a compromise would emerge before nightfall.

Both sides claimed the addition of 16 new member states would swing the trend in their favor. And both voiced confidence they had enough support to get the necessary two-thirds majority.

Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile conferred yesterday with top representatives of the United States, Britain and France in an attempt to find a way to settle the issue.

Informed sources said Britain, which has been backing Yugoslavia, proposed Sweden as a compromise choice, but the United States insisted it would stick by the Philippines.

INFORMANTS said the Americans oppose Sweden on grounds the Scandinavian nation's recognition of Red China would play a role in the growing battle over Chinese representation.

Italy and Austria also were reportedly suggested, but a number of diplomats oppose giving such a high post to a new member.

Negotiations have become urgent over the last two weeks. Delegates feared that if the Assembly adjourned without filling the seat, the council would be out of business. Under the U. N. Charter, the 11-nation body cannot function without full membership.

The United States has tried to resolve the problem by proposing a rotation plan calling for election of the Philippines this year and Yugoslavia in 1957.

Both Yugoslavia and Britain gave a cold reception to the American proposal. The British and the Russians argued that such a move would breach the London big powers agreement giving an East European state the seat on a regular basis.

The United States argued that the 1946 agreement was binding for only one year and added that Asia should have wider representation on the council.

When the marathon balloting began two months ago, the race was between the Philippines and Poland. But after the Poles bogged down in the running, the Soviet bloc switched to Yugoslavia.

Probe Continues In Jackson Deaths

JACKSON (AP)—An investigation of the deaths of a Jackson woman and her three grandchildren will continue because a grand jury reported that three of the dead suffered skull fractures before flames consumed the house.

The deaths occurred Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Eva Elkins, 55. The grandchildren who died were Victoria Addis, 7, Timothy Addis, 4, and Linda Combs, 4. After burial, the bodies were exhumed for examination.

The grand jury reported Mrs. Elkins and the Addis children suffered skull fractures about 20 minutes before death occurred.

Health Insurance Campaign Readied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission turned from prosecution to persuasion today in an effort to halt what it considers "deceptive and harmful" advertising of health insurance.

It said yesterday it would convene "as soon as possible" a meeting of state insurance commissioners and others interested to seek a "uniform corrective solution" to the problem.

The agency has been studying the insurance field for nearly two years, and has charged 41 companies with using false and misleading advertising.

BLOOD PLASMA is administered to Mrs. John Hefner in Chestnut Hill hospital, Philadelphia, after she suffered serious burns trying to rescue her three children, killed in a fire. Blood collections during the bloodmobile visits make emergency aid of this sort possible. The bloodmobile will be at the Methodist Church in Circleville Monday from 10:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Those willing to give blood should phone 336.

66-Voice CHS Choir To Offer Christmastide Vesper Service

Amid a specially designed Yuletide stage setting, the 66-voice Circleville High School Choir will present its annual Christmas Vesper Service Sunday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The program, which will last approximately one hour and 10 minutes, is scheduled for 4 p. m. The big choral group will be directed by Truman Ebel, head of the CHS music department.

Miss Barbara Samuel will be the accompanist.

Opening the program will be a group of four selections: "Silent Night, Holy Night", "There Were Shepherds", "The Angels and the Shepherds", and "Come to the Stable With Jesus".

The CHS girls' sextet will then offer "A Christmas Cradle Song". Members of this group are: Betty Leist, Lois Wittich, Judy Hurst, Phyllis McFee, Lucratta McNeal, and Elaine Woodward.

NEXT in order on the program will be the following: "Sing Messiah's Birth", a Christmas cantata by Fred B. Holton.

"Sing, O Heavens", "The People That Walked In Darkness", "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord", "The Star and the Song", all by choir sections and a girls' two-part chorus.

"Christians Awake", by the choir. "Echoing Voices", a soprano solo by Donna Mitchell.

"Hail to the Lord's Anointed", by the choir.

"Little Jesus, Sweetly Sleep", by Elaine Woodward and Judy Hurst. "Sing Praises", and "Come and Adore Him", by the choir and girls' two-part chorus.

"Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming", by the girls' sextet. "O Come All Ye Faithful", "The First Noel", "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing", "O Little Town of Bethlehem", and "Joy to the World", group singing.

"In Bethlehem's Lowly Manger", by the girls' sextet. "Winds Through the Olive Trees", "Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas Tonight", "Angels We Have Heard on High", "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day", "O Holy Night", "The Lord Bless You and Keep You", all in a closing group of selections.

Ohio Cleric Faces Mississippi Ban

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Rep. Jimmy Morrow said today he will ask the Legislature to prevent the Rev. Alvin Kershaw, the jazz expert minister, from speaking at the University of Mississippi.

Morrow's statement came after the Board of Trustees of Institutions of Higher Learnings adjourned without taking action on the controversial scheduled speech.

Rev. Mr. Kershaw, Episcopal rector of Oxford, Ohio, recently won a large cash prize on a television show and said he would donate it all—part of it to the Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Morrow believes in white supremacy.

October Is Worst Month On Highways

COLUMBUS (AP)—Highway accidents in Ohio killed 224 persons and injured 6,872 others during October, the most destructive month so far this year, the state department of highway safety says.

Highway deaths totaled 1,630 in the first 10 months of 1955, a seven per cent increase over the corresponding period last year.

United Nations Agency Debates Syrian Claims

Egypt Sounds Warning It Will Retaliate If 'Aggression' Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Middle East became the focal point of attention for the world's diplomats today.

Egyptian reprisal threats lent new urgency to United Nations Security Council debate on a Syrian accusation of new Israeli aggression.

In Jerusalem, unofficial sources said a rifle shot along the shores of the Sea of Galilee stirred up heavy firing last night, possibly between Syrian positions.

An army spokesman denied Damascus reports that the Syrians had repelled a new Israeli attack. The spokesman, Adj. Dan Gov, told a reporter: "Since the night of Dec. 11, Israel has not engaged in any action against the Syrians whatever."

Informants at the Israeli village of Ein Gev, just south of the Syrian positions on Galilee, said no shots were fired at or by Israelis in last night's firing.

As the 11 members of the Security Council gathered to take up the Syrian protest, they had before them a letter from Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser asserting the Israeli attack was "positively considered as an aggression against Egypt" also.

Nasser pointed out that Egypt and Syria had concluded a mutual defense pact in October. The council meeting was called to consider Syria's protest against a raid on her posts east of the Sea of Galilee Sunday night. Conflicting reports have put the death toll as high as 59.

NASSER'S LETTER was addressed to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld with the request that it be relayed to the council. It said Egypt must meet force with force and was "about to deal with the situation herself" with her land, air and naval forces.

U.S. Denies China Students Detained

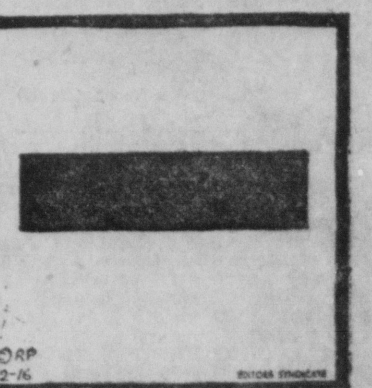

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has denied a Red Chinese charge that 33 Chinese students are still detained against their will in America.

The charge was made in a statement by the Chinese Communists which was distributed here. U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Envoy Wang Ping-nan have been negotiating since Aug. 1 on repatriations and other points in dispute between Washington and Peking.

The two envoys agreed Sept. 9 that their countries would cooperate in returning home their respective nationals who wanted to go back. About 20 Americans have been released from Red China since that time.

Washington CH Weighs Pay Cut For Firemen

Ending Measure Noted Because Of Similar Plan Here

Members of city council here today drew attention to the fact that Washington C. H. lawmakers, like the Circleville legislators, are considering a plan to cut the pay of city firemen.

At Washington C. H., city council Wednesday night heard first reading of an ordinance that would cut the wages of city firemen. That community pays $25 a month. At their meeting on December 6, Circleville city lawmakers began consideration of a measure which Fire Chief Talmer Wise said would mean a cut of about $76 a month for rank-and-file members of his department.

The action in Washington C. H. came after the voters, on November 8, had approved a reduction in the firemen's work-week. A similar reduction in the work-week was approved for Circleville firemen, and Wise has announced the shorter week is already in effect.

Final action on the Washington C. H. ordinance may come when council in that city meets December 28. The similar measure here will be up for second reading next Tuesday night when council meets for its last regular meeting of 1955.

A SHORT time before the measure was first introduced here at the latest meeting of council, Circleville's lawmakers voted on an ordinance that would have doubled their present salaries of $300 a year. The measure was defeated by a one-vote margin.

Both in Washington C. H. and Circleville, council contends that a pay cut for firemen will be necessary to maintain operation of the reduced work-week.

A spokesman for firemen here said they have been advised that the measure pending in Circleville council is illegal under Civil Service regulations. Members of council, however, apparently challenge this claim.

Dulles Said Seeking British Agreement

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was reported today to have appealed to British Foreign Secretary Macmillan in an effort to halt a British move to relax trade restrictions on Red China.

The British reportedly advised the Americans they might be compelled to ease the restrictions soon because of strong political and business pressures at home.

Possibility of such action has worried the American administration because it would spell the loss of an important bargaining counter in current discussions between U. S. and Red Chinese representatives.

The informants did not disclose what Macmillan replied to Dulles.

Sailors Land; Everything Pretty Much Out Of Hand

ATAMI, Japan (AP)—The U. S. Navy has landed again at this resort town south of Tokyo, and Fujiro Suzuki, operator of a hotel and aquarium, says this time he's just about had it, especially since he's not sure which is worse—the gay sailors or the investigating police.

His latest brush with the Navy, said he, cost him the front door to the aquarium, some furniture and the sweet disposition of his favorite dolphin.

"I have run this hotel and aquarium for the last five years and the same thing happens over and over again," Suzuki said.

Last night about 30 American sailors in a festive mood were waiting for launches to take them to their destroyer escorts in Atami Bay.

It started to rain. The sailors broke down the front door of the aquarium to get in. While employees covered in a corner, the sailors amused themselves by throwing tables, chairs and six rowboats at the dolphin, which was not hit but lost its playful disposition.

Suzuki says this is bad business, because the dolphin is one of his best attractions.

"Last night's crew was about normal," he sighed. "The others usually break into the hotel, poke holes in the shoji (sliding paper panels) and peep at honeymooners. They're ruining my business."

Suzuki called the police, who called the U. S. Navy, which had no comment pending an inquiry.

After the sailors had withdrawn the police came and took pictures of the wreckage.

"I don't know which is worse, the sailors or the police," Suzuki fumed.

The newspaper Asahi said two destroyer escorts anchored in Atami Bay were Nos. 412 and 414. Those are the numbers of the Walter Wann and Le Ray Wilson.

$1,000-Bill Swindle Aired In U.S. Court

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—The government yesterday sought to show that the alleged $50,000 swindle of two Toledo brothers last summer was a well-planned affair.

Irving Pollock, Toledo car dealer, told the federal court jury he was approached last spring about the possibility of buying a quantity of $1,000 bills for $600 each.

Pollock's prosecution testimony came in the trial of five men charged with conspiracy in the alleged swindle of Robert and Kenneth Close, both industrialists, at the London-Corbin Airport July 28.

Charged with conspiring to defraud the brothers are Simpson Bryan Cross and Glennie Joe Buchanan, Jackson, Miss.; George Jack Hutchinson, Louisville; George Henson, London; and Charles Paul Rothschild, Carbondale, Ill.

The men are charged with entering a conspiracy involving the exchange of $50,000 in regular currency from the Close brothers and $10,000 from another man for what was supposed to have been $100,000 in thousand-dollar bills.

Pollock testified that Cross came to see him in Toledo and told him he had a friend who had some thousand-dollar bills to sell. Kenneth Close testified previously that he and his brother were told the money was coming from a man in Mississippi who got the money in slot machine dealings.

He told the jury they lost the money in a switch of envelopes, receiving pieces of newspaper cut to look like currency.

Reider To Seek Ohio Governorship

STUEBENVILLE (AP)—Robert Reider, Port Clinton Democrat and a frequent critic of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, said last night he would run for the governorship.

He made the announcement at a meeting of northern Ohio Democratic chairmen.

Reider called the present Democratic governor a "dictator" and said he is "destroying the Democratic Party in Ohio."

Reider was an unsuccessful candidate for secretary of state in the last election.

Chilly Weather To Hold Steady

Mercury Expected To Hang Below Normal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was just plain cold in Ohio today and the weatherman says it will stay that way for a while.

He predicted temperatures during the next five days will run three to five degrees below normal. The normal low is 22 to 25; normal high runs between 36 and 40.

The prediction calls for warmer tomorrow and Sunday, but Monday and Tuesday will be on the cold side again.

The mercury should edge upward again about next Wednesday.

No snow is in sight for Ohio except along Lake Erie, likely Saturday night and Monday.

The mid-December cold spell held fast over most of the nation today.

Temperatures plunged below freezing this morning into the southeast coastal states and parts of the Gulf region. It was a frosty 30 in San Antonio, Tex.

The arctic air which has cooled the mid-continent this week spread across the entire eastern area and much of the South yesterday.

TEMPERATURES dropped more than 20 degrees in many sections of the East. Similar drops were reported in the Southern Plains and Northeastward from Texas over the middle and lower Mississippi Valley and the Ohio Valley.

The coldest weather continued in the upper Mississippi Valley. Temperatures again today were below or around zero in many Midwest cities. They didn't get much above zero yesterday.

Snow fell last night from northern New England to the eastern Great Lakes region and southward into the Appalachians.

Hewitt Cromley Seeks Job As Commissioner

Jim Moorehead Puts Hat In Ring As Sheriff's Opponent

Two more candidates today were in the political picture taking shape here for the 1956 elections.

Hewitt Cromley of Ashville announced he would seek a post on the Pickaway County board of commissioners. And Jim Moorehead of Circleville has taken out petitions as a candidate for the office of sheriff.

Cromley, widely known as an Angus cattle raiser, is at least the third Democrat to take out papers for a place on the county commission. Two seats on the three-member board will be at stake in the voting next year.

Other Democratic candidates for the county commissioner jobs include Clyde Michel and L. L. Melvin.

MOOREHEAD, who lives at 118 S. Washington St., is also a Democrat. The 32-year old office-seeker thus is in line to oppose Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff in the May primaries.

Radcliff has announced he will seek a record-breaking sixth consecutive term in office.

Love-Crazed Killer, 17, Dies Of Wounds

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (AP)—A love-crazed youth who killed three persons and wounded two others died last night six hours after he was shot down in a gun fight with a posse.

John Fallone, 17, died in nearby Armstrong County Memorial Hospital, where his wound - be friend Gladys Smail, 15, lay in critical condition from shots fired into her chest by the berserk boy.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Smail, and her uncle, William Smail, were shot by Fallone here Wednesday night.

Policeman Gus Zanos of Apollo, wounded by Fallone as the nearly 50-man posse closed in on the youth yesterday, was reported in satisfactory condition. He missed death by a fraction of an inch as a bullet hit him under the right eye and ranged upward to lodge under his skull.

About 100 shots were fired before a sharpshooting state policeman picked off Fallone as he stuck his head out from behind a tree stump. Fallone was found with a .22 caliber automatic rifle and 500 rounds of ammunition by his side. He never regained consciousness.

He invaded the Smail home Wednesday with a rifle and a package of dynamite. His efforts to explode the dynamite after the killings were unsuccessful.

Gladys said she had dated Fallone several months ago and that her parents had forbidden her to see him again. She said after the date Fallone became angry.

U.S. Denies China Students Detained

GENEVA (AP)—The United States has denied a Red Chinese charge that 33 Chinese students are still detained against their will in America.

The charge was made in a statement by the Chinese Communists which was distributed here. U. S. Ambassador Dr. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Envoy Wang Ping-nan have been negotiating since Aug. 1 on repatriations and other points in dispute between Washington and Peking.

The two envoys agreed Sept. 9 that their countries would cooperate in returning home their respective nationals who wanted to go back. About 20 Americans have been released from Red China since that time.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"FLESH-COLORED" BAND-AID FOR COAL MINER

This Droodle, sent in by Randolph W. Borges of Lanikai, Hawaii, would make a dandy last-minute gift for any coal miner you forgot to put on your list. In case you need other last-minute presents, here are some suggestions (also last-minute): For your Wife: a sequin-covered Dust Mop and a gold lame Apron so she can be glamorous and useful at the same time. For your Husband: An Encyclopedia and an introduction to Hal March, MC of the $64,000 Question. For your Dentist: some new, up-to-date 1953 magazines. For your Mailman: written permission to bite your dog. For Children: A copy of "Oodles of Droodles." For your Psychiatrist: A cuckoo clock. For your Landlord: 3 Small Throw Rugs and a can of Floor Wax.

Washington CH Weighs Pay Cut For Firemen

Pending Measure Noted Because Of Similar Plan Here

Members of city council here today drew attention to the fact that Washington C. H. lawmakers, like the Circleville legislators, are considering a plan to cut the pay of city firemen.

At Washington C. H., city council Wednesday night heard first reading of an ordinance that would cut the wages of city firemen to that community pay $25 a month. At their meeting on December 6, Circleville city lawmakers began consideration of a measure which Fire Chief Talmer Wise said would mean a cut of about $76 a month for rank-and-file members of his department.

The action in Washington C. H. came after the voters, on November 8, had approved a reduction in the firemen's work-week. A similar reduction in the work-week was approved for Circleville firemen, and Wise has announced the shorter week is already in effect.

Final action on the Washington C. H. ordinance may come when council in that city meets December 28. The similar measure here will be up for second reading next Tuesday night when council meets for its last regular meeting of 1955.

A SHORT time before the measure was first introduced here at the latest meeting of council, Circleville's lawmakers voted on an ordinance that would have doubled their present salaries of $300 a year. The measure was defeated by a one-vote margin.

Both in Washington C. H. and Circleville, council contends that a pay cut for firemen will be necessary to maintain operation of the reduced work-week.

A spokesman for firemen here said they have been advised that the measure pending in Circleville council is illegal under Civil Service regulations. Members of council, however, apparently challenge this claim.

Dulles Said Seeking British Agreement

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was reported today to have appealed to British Foreign Secretary Macmillan in an effort to halt a British move to relax trade restrictions on Red China.

The British reportedly advised the Americans they might be compelled to ease the restrictions soon because of strong political and business pressures at home.

Possibility of such action has worried the American administration because it would spell the loss of an important bargaining counter in current discussions between U. S. and Red Chinese representatives.

The informants did not disclose what Macmillan replied to Dulles.

Sailors Land; Everything Pretty Much Out Of Hand

ATAMI, Japan (AP)—The U. S. Navy has landed again at this resort town south of Tokyo, and Fujiro Suzuki, operator of a hotel and aquarium, says this time he's just about had it, especially since he's not sure which is worse—the gay sailors or the investigating police.

His latest brush with the Navy, said he, cost him the front door to the aquarium, some furniture and the sweet disposition of his favorite dolphin.

"I have run this hotel and aquarium for the last five years and the same thing happens over and over again," Suzuki said.

He related: "Last night about 30 American sailors in a festive mood were waiting for launches to take them to their destroyer escorts in Atami Bay."

It started to rain. The sailors broke down the front door of the aquarium to get in.

While employees cowered in a corner, the sailors amused themselves by throwing tables, chairs and six rowboats at the dolphin, which was not hit but lost its playful disposition.

Suzuki says this is bad business, because the dolphin is one of his best attractions. "Last night's crew was about normal," he sighed. "The others usually break into the hotel, poke holes in the shoji (sliding paper panels) and peep at honeymooners. They're ruining my business."

Suzuki called the police, who called the U. S. Navy, which had no comment pending an inquiry.

After the sailors had withdrawn the police came and took pictures of the wreckage. "I don't know which is worse, the sailors or the police," Suzuki fumed.

The newspaper Asahi said two destroyer escorts anchored in Atami Bay were Nos. 412 and 414. Those are the numbers of the Walter Wann and Le Ray Wilson.

$1,000-Bill Swindle Aired In U.S. Court

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—The government yesterday sought to show that the alleged $50,000 swindle of two Toledo brothers last summer was a well-planned affair.

Irving Pollock, Toledo car dealer, told the federal court jury he was approached last spring about the possibility of buying a quantity of $1,000 bills for $600 each.

Pollock's prosecution testimony came in the trial of five men charged with conspiracy in the alleged swindle of Robert and Kenneth Close, both industrialists, at the London-Corbin Airport July 28.

Charged with conspiring to defraud the brothers are Simpson Bryan Cross and Clennie Joe Buchanan, Jackson, Miss.; George Jack Hutchinson, Louisville; George Henson, London; and Charles Paul Rothschild, Carbondale, Ill.

The men are charged with entering a conspiracy involving the exchange of $50,000 in regular currency from the Close brothers and $10,000 from another man for what was supposed to have been $100,000 in thousand-dollar bills.

Pollock testified that Cross came to see him in Toledo and told him he had a friend who had some thousand-dollar bills to sell.

Kenneth Close testified previously that he and his brother were told the money was coming from a man in Mississippi who got the money in slot machine dealings.

He told the jury they lost the money in a switch of envelopes, receiving pieces of newspaper cut to look like currency.

Reider To Seek Ohio Governorship

STEBUNVILLE (AP)—Robert Reider, Port Clinton Democrat and a frequent critic of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, said last night he would run for the governorship.

He made the announcement at a meeting of northern Ohio Democratic chairmen.

Reider called the present Democratic governor a "dictator" and said he is "destroying the Democratic Party in Ohio."

Reider was an unsuccessful candidate for secretary of state in the last election.

Chilly Weather To Hold Steady

Mercury Expected To Hang Below Normal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was just plain cold in Ohio today and the weatherman says it will stay that way for a while.

He predicted temperatures during the next five days will run three to five degrees below normal. The normal low is 22 to 24 normal high runs between 36 and 40.

The prediction calls for warmer tomorrow and Sunday, but Monday and Tuesday will be on the cold side again.

The mercury should edge upward again about next Wednesday. No snow is in sight for Ohio except along Lake Erie, likely Saturday night and Monday.

The mid-December cold spell held fast over most of the nation today.

Temperatures plunged below freezing this morning into the southeast coastal states and parts of the Gulf region. It was a frosty 30 in San Antonio, Tex.

The arctic air which has cooled the mid-continent this week spread across the entire eastern area and much of the South yesterday.

TEMPERATURES dropped more than 20 degrees in many sections of the East. Similar drops were reported in the Southern Plains and Northeastward from Texas over the middle and lower Mississippi Valley and the Ohio Valley.

The coldest weather continued in the upper Mississippi Valley. Temperatures again today were below or around zero in many Midwest cities. They didn't get much above zero yesterday.

Snow fell last night from northern New England to the eastern Great Lakes region and southward into the Appalachians.

Typhoon Tracked

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Ruth, a giant Pacific storm 600 miles across and packing central winds of 150-miles-an-hour force, was churning northeast today on a course that might batter Iwo Jima with its tiny U. S. Air Force garrison.

Hewitt Cromley Seeks Job As Commissioner

Jim Moorehead Puts Hat In Ring As Sheriff's Opponent

Two more candidates today were in the political picture taking shape here for the 1956 elections.

Hewitt Cromley of Ashville announced he would seek a post on the Pickaway County board of commissioners. And Jim Moorehead of Circleville has taken out petitions as a candidate for the office of sheriff.

Cromley, widely known as an Angus cattle raiser, is at least the third Democrat to take out papers for a place on the county commission. Two seats on the three-member board will be at stake in the voting next year.

Other Democratic candidates for the county commissioner jobs include Clyde Michel and L. L. Melvin.

MOOREHEAD, who lives at 118 S. Washington St., is also a Democrat. The 32-year old office-seeker thus is in line to oppose Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff in the May primaries.

Radcliff has announced he will seek a record-breaking sixth consecutive term in office.

Love-Crazed Killer, 17, Dies Of Wounds

VANDERGRIFT, Pa. (AP)—A love-crazed youth who killed three persons and wounded two others died last night six hours after he was shot down in a gun fight with a posse.

John Fallone, 17, died in nearby Armstrong County Memorial Hospital, where his wound—be girl friend Gladys Small, 15, lay in critical condition from shots fired into her chest by the berserk boy.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Small, and her uncle, William Small, were shot by Fallone here Wednesday night.

Policeman Gus Zanos of Apollo, wounded by Fallone as the nearly 50-man posse closed in on the youth yesterday, was reported in satisfactory condition. He missed the bullet by a fraction of an inch as a bullet hit him under the right eye and ranged upward to lodge under his skull.

About 100 shots were fired before a sharpshooting state policeman picked off Fallone as he stuck his head out from behind a tree stump. Fallone was found with a .22 caliber automatic rifle and 500 rounds of ammunition by his side. He never regained consciousness.

He invaded the Small home Wednesday with a rifle and a package of dynamite. His efforts to explode the dynamite after the killings were unsuccessful.

Gladys said she had dated Fallone several months ago and that her parents had forbidden her to see him again. She said after the date Fallone became angry.

United Nations Agency Debates Syrian Claims

Syria's delegation to the General Assembly, told correspondents he would ask the council for "measures which have not been asked before." That could mean a proposal, that the council request U. N. members to cut diplomatic, economic and communication ties with Israel, or even to use military force.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban was ready to reply that the attack was necessary to silence Syrian guns which had been harassing Israeli boats.

The council was expected to hear both sides, then adjourn until next week while members pondered possible action. In the past the council has never gone farther than a censure of one side or the other and a request that both sides work with the chief U. N. trustee supervisor, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to prevent further incidents.

Britain protested against the attack yesterday in a note handed the Israeli ambassador to London, Eliahu Elath. This followed up statements of regret from government spokesmen in both London and Paris.

The United States was reported in Washington to have notified Israel that, in view of Sunday's incident, it needed more time to consider a week-old Israeli request to buy some $50 million worth of U. S. arms.

AEC Urged To Reveal Data On Harnessing Of H-Bomb

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) says the Atomic Energy Commission should tell the public all details about its quest to harness the H-bomb for peacetime purposes so that more hands and brains can join in the recently announced project.

He expressed that opinion yesterday after declaring that the AEC had even kept members of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee in the dark about the project for a while. He is chairman of the committee.

Anderson said that last March, he took some of the members of his committee on a tour of the AEC's atomic laboratory at Los Alamos, N. M.

But, he said, "I was not allowed" to take them through one area where, he found out later, research

Rotary Hears Of Findings At Indian Mound

Detailed information on findings at the Niles-Milford Indian mound, opened in Jackson Township last Summer, was given to members of the Rotary Club at their regular Thursday meeting.

Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archaeology at the Ohio State Museum, addressed the group and also showed a large number of colored films taken during the excavation. The mound was located on the Charles Niles farm on Route 104.

Dr. Baby, who was in charge of the project, explained the unusual findings made at the Adena Indian mound. He said the results are considered of high importance in archaeological history.

Traces of a large number of burials were found in the mound, Dr. Baby said. He added that the burial pits also contained special trinkets, which he labelled "artifacts".
Dr. Baby said there was evidence of agricultural activity in that area when the Adenas occupied it. He noted that vegetable matter found in the mound was either pumpkin or squash.

Colin Kelly III Given Tribute In Ceremony

CONCORDVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A tall, red-haired 15-year-old boy with a ready grin accepted his own hour of tribute last night with a becoming shyness that would have warmed his father's heart.

Colin P. Kelly III, son of the United States' first hero of World War II, received his Eagle Scout award in a solemn ceremony before a group of neighbors and friends in a church hall in this tiny Philadelphia suburb.

For "Corky" Kelly it was an important event. It represented nearly four years of community and camping enterprises that totaled 21 hard-earned merit badges. Only an average of one Scout in 50 reach this goal.

His mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, who have tried to shield him whenever possible from any public display, took part in the ceremony.

Judge William R. Toal of Delaware County Court, himself a scout executive, presented the Medal and said:

"Here is a lad who has borne the mantle of a great father. He has lived with a great ideal and tonight he is not found wanting."

Capt. Colin Kelly lost his life in a bombing mission in the first days of Pearl Harbor. His plane scored a direct hit on a Japanese battleship Haruna and a grateful nation made him its No. 1 hero.

Westinghouse Union Parley Still Snagged

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. and its two biggest unions, locked in a strike that is costing both sides millions of dollars, appear as far apart today as when the plants closed Oct. 17.

Wages, time studies of workers jobs and length of contract are the big issues. Both sides agree that recent negotiations have made no progress toward agreement.

Westinghouse says the dispute is costing some 55,000 striking employees $950,000 a day in wages. About 40,000 other employees are furloughed.

The company declines to comment on its own losses but sources close to the operation estimate production losses so far will exceed $150 million.

The unions are the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the independent United Electrical Workers (UE). Each is conducting separate negotiations.

Both unions have been demanding 15-cent hourly wage hikes for workers who were earning an average of $2.10 an hour. Yesterday however, the UE offered to accept a temporary 3 per cent raise with provisions for further wage negotiations after the men return to work. The company rejected this offer.

The company has offered both unions a five-year contract with annual raises which the firm says will total a minimum of 23 1/2 cents an hour. Both the UE and the IUE refused this offer.

Board Of Education Gives Bluejeans OK

GEORGETOWN (AP)—Russell Thirey, superintendent of schools here, has lost his fight against the wearing of bluejeans by girl students.

The Board of Education has ruled that bluejeans are proper attire. Thirey had declared a ban on them, saying he and the faculty felt the youngsters should go to school "dressed as ladies."

The parents of two girls hired an attorney and threatened court action if the girls were turned away because they wore jeans.

Spreckels Sheds Rich Family Name

SEATTLE (AP)—John D. Spreckels III, who once inherited $2 million, is plain John D. Smith, cabinet salesman, today.

He got the new name yesterday in court. He said the Spreckels name had been a handicap because it made it tough to get a job. Prospective employers looked upon him "as a playboy."

Spreckels inherited the $2 million from his grandfather, sugar baron Adolph B. Spreckels, in 1930 at the age of 20. Most of it is gone now. He has been divorced four times.

Icy Roads Blamed For 2 Accidents

Two accidents reported by the sheriff's office were blamed on icy roads, some of which reportedly remain treacherous.

Minor injuries were suffered in the two mishaps. One took place on Island Rd. west of Circleville in which a car skidded around a sharp bend in the road and went into a ditch.

The other accident happened on Water St. in Williamsport. A car went out of control and struck a utility pole.

Syria's delegation to the General Assembly, told correspondents he would ask the council for "measures which have not been asked before." That could mean a proposal, that the council request U. N. members to cut diplomatic, economic and communication ties with Israel; or even to use military force.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban was ready to reply that the attack was necessary to silence Syrian guns which had been harassing Israeli boats.

The council was expected to hear both sides, then adjourn until next week while members pondered possible action. In the past the council has never gone further than a censure of one side or the other and a request that both sides work with the chief U. N. truce supervisor, Canadian Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns, to prevent further incidents.

Britain protested against the attack yesterday in a note handed the Israeli ambassador to London, Eliahu Elath. This followed up statements of regret from government spokesmen in both London and Paris.

The United States was reported in Washington to have notified Israel that, in view of Sunday's incident, it needed more time to consider a week-old Israeli request to buy some $50 million worth of U. S. arms.

AEC Urged To On Harnessing

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) says the Atomic Energy Commission should tell the public all details about its quest to harness the H-bomb for peacetime purposes so that more hands and brains can join in the recently announced project.

He expressed that opinion yesterday after declaring that the AEC had even kept members of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee in the dark about the project for a while. He is chairman of the committee.

Anderson said that last March, he took some of the members of his committee on a tour of the AEC's atomic laboratory at Los Alamos, N. M.

But, he said, "I was not allowed" to take them through one area where, he found out later, research

Rotary Hears Of Findings At Indian Mound

Detailed information on findings at the Niles-Milford Indian mound, opened in Jackson Township last Summer, was given to members of the Rotary Club at their regular Thursday meeting.

Dr. Raymond Baby, curator of archaeology at the Ohio State Museum, addressed the group and also showed a large number of colored films taken during the excavation. The mound was located on the Charles Niles farm on Route 104.

Dr. Baby, who was in charge of the project, explained the unusual findings made at the Adena Indian mound. He said the results are considered of high importance in archaeological history.

Traces of a large number of burials were found in the mound, Dr. Baby said. He added that the burial pits also contained special trinkets, which he labelled "artifacts".

Dr. Baby said there was evidence of agricultural activity in that area when the Adenas occupied it. He noted that vegetable matter found in the mound was either pumpkin or squash.

Man Ordered Held For Grand Jury

Ralph Holbrook of Williamsport has been bound over to the Pickaway County grand jury following a preliminary hearing in city court.

Holbrook is accused of issuing a check with insufficient funds. Bond was set at $300. The affidavit was signed by Edgar Webb.

In other municipal court action, Harry C. Steil, 39, of Columbus, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three consecutive days in jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months for drunk driving. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Cecil G. Hardage, 50, of Ecorse, Mich., was fined $20 and costs for speeding 65 in a 45 miles per hour zone. He was apprehended by State Patrolman Gene Miller.

City Lutheran Men Elect New Officers

Russell Skaggs was elected president of the Men's Brotherhood of Trinity Lutheran Church at the group's dinner meeting Thursday night.

John Eitel Sr. is vice-president, James Peters is secretary, Marion Good is treasurer, Gladden Troutman is chorister and Richard Penn is reporting secretary.

A proposal was made to change the constitution to read one meeting a month instead of the present two. This will be voted on at the January meeting.

Robert L. Brehmer Sr. showed a collection of his films, some of which included shots of the 1924 Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Reveal Data Of H-Bomb

on the controlled fusion, or H-bomb reaction, was going on.

"The atomic energy law says that the commission shall keep the joint committee informed of all developments," he said, "But they thought that this was so secret a project that the joint committee should not be told about it."

ADDRESSING the Nuclear Science and Engineering Congress, he called for the AEC to tell more details about the project in contrast to the limited disclosures it has hitherto made.

"The job of seeing whether hydrogen energy can be controlled is an immense job," he told the scientists. "It may eventually require the work of thousands of people, and the task may extend over decades. Even so, success is neither assured nor probable."

"This is a field where we badly need new ideas. The surest way to keep from getting such ideas, in my opinion, is by posting a 'keep out' sign around our controlled hydrogen program."

The senator said he thought the AEC should disclose all its work so far, so that "every school and college, and industrial companies too" could join in the research effort.

Eight-Year Old Girl Hit By Auto Here 2nd Mishap In Day

Shirley Southward, 8, of 486 E. Main St., narrowly escaped serious injury when she was struck by a car not far from her home Thursday at 4:25 p. m.

City police report that the girl apparently ran from between two parked cars while returning from an errand to a nearby store. Some of her teeth were loosened and she suffered a bruised hand and a bump on the forehead, according to the police report.

Police said that William McCloskey, 21, of Pittsfield, Pa., driver of the car, was not held. The wheels of his car were said to have just missed the girl as the auto passed over her after she was knocked down.

McCloskey was traveling east on E. Main St. at the time of the accident. He told police he tried to stop but that the car skidded on the icy pavement.

This was the second accident in eight hours in which a youngster was struck by a car.

Ohio Coal Output Still Improving

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio coal production continues to improve, the State Department of Industrial Relations reported today.

Third-quarter statistics released today by Director Margaret A. Mahoney show an output of 8,700,000 tons in the quarter ended Sept. 30. This, said Miss Mahoney, was more than half a million tons better than the previous quarter and 1,400,000 tons better than the third quarter of 1954—a gain of nearly 20 per cent.

Of the third-quarter total, two-thirds were produced by surface methods—strip and auger mining.

Red Ship Damaged

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist Chinese planes damaged a Communist landing craft of about 1,000 tons and "a considerable number" of small wooden craft near the Reds' Taishan Islands this morning.

TAMLA DOLLISON

Tamla Dollison, five-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dollison of Athens Route 3, died just before noon Friday at Shelters Arms Hospital in Athens. Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Colin Kelly III Given Tribute In Ceremony

CONCORDVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A tall, red-haired 15-year-old boy with a ready grin accepted his own hour of tribute last night with a becoming shyness that would have warmed his father's heart.

Colin P. Kelly III, son of the United States' first hero of World War II, received his Eagle Scout award in a solemn ceremony before a group of neighbors and friends in a church hall in this tiny Philadelphia suburb.

For "Corky" Kelly it was an important event. It represented nearly four years of community and camping enterprises that totaled 21 hard-earned merit badges. Only an average of one Scout in 50 reach this goal.

His mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. J. Watson Pedlow, who have tried to shield him whenever possible from any public display, took part in the ceremony.

Judge William R. Toal of Delaware County Court, himself a scout executive, presented the Medal and said:

"Here is a lad who has borne the mantle of a great father. He has lived with a great ideal and to-night he is not found wanting."

Capt. Colin Kelly lost his life in a bombing mission in the first days of Pearl Harbor. His plane scored a direct hit on a Japanese battleship Haruna and a grateful nation made him its No. 1 hero.

Westinghouse Union Parley Still Snagged

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. and its two biggest unions, locked in a strike that is costing both sides millions of dollars, appear as far apart today as when the plants closed Oct. 17.

Wages, time studies of workers jobs and length of contract are the big issues. Both sides agree that recent negotiations have made no progress toward agreement.

Westinghouse says the dispute is costing some 55,000 striking employees $950,000 a day in wages. About 40,000 other employees are furloughed.

The company declines to comment on its own losses but sources close to the operation estimate production losses so far will exceed $150 million.

The unions are the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) and the independent United Electrical Workers (UE). Each is conducting separate negotiations.

Both unions have been demanding 15-cent hourly wage hikes for workers who were earning an average of $2.10 an hour. Yesterday however, the UE offered to accept a temporary 3 per cent raise with provisions for further wage negotiations after the men return to work. The company rejected this offer.

The company has offered both unions a five-year contract with annual raises which the firm says will total a minimum of 23 1/2 cents an hour. Both the UE and the IUE refused this offer.

Board Of Education Gives Bluejeans OK

GEORGETOWN (AP)—Russell Thirey, superintendent of schools here, has lost his fight against the wearing of bluejeans by girl students.

The Board of Education has ruled that bluejeans are proper attire. Thirey had declared a ban on them, saying he and the faculty felt the youngsters should go to school "dressed as ladies."

The parents of two girls hired an attorney and threatened court action if the girls were turned away because they wore jeans.

Spreckels Sheds Rich Family Name

SEATTLE (AP)—John D. Spreckels III, who once inherited $2 million, is plain John D. Smith, cabinet salesman, today.

He got the new name yesterday in court. He said the Spreckels name had been a handicap because it made it tough to get a job. Prospective employers looked upon him "as a playboy."

Spreckels inherited the $2 million from his grandfather, sugar baron Adolph B. Spreckels, in 1930 at the age of 20. Most of it is gone now. He has been divorced four times.

Icy Roads Blamed For 2 Accidents

Two accidents reported by the sheriff's office were blamed on icy roads, some of which reportedly remain treacherous.

Minor injuries were suffered in the two mishaps. One took place on Island Rd. west of Circleville in which a car skidded around a sharp bend in the road and went into a ditch.

The other accident happened on Water St. in Williamsport. A car went out of control and struck a utility pole.

the so-called cold war be resumed in full vigor? He still seemed to be hoping for a silver lining for he answered the question:

"We must assume that the Soviet Union will continue its efforts short of war to make its system prevail . . . We can, however, hope that this competition will not entail all the same hostility and animosity which so defiled relations between us in the past."

That hope faded in a hurry. Between then and now Bulgarian and Chubby Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev visited Southern Asia, where they spread pure poison — without sugar — about the West and the United States and Britain.

Thursday Dulles seemed like a badly disillusioned man. In Paris, talking to the NATO Council of Ministers, he said the East-West meeting was Oct. 27—he told a news conference he believed the four foreign ministers would make positive progress at Geneva toward the reunification of Germany.

(As it turned out, they made no progress on anything, and particularly they made no progress on Germany. Dulles and Molotov went to Geneva with opposite ideas on how to reunify the country and neither budged an inch to accept the other's.)

The Russians were bothering Dulles nevertheless on Oct. 4, for he told reporters that day he had twice warned the Soviets that Communist shipment of arms to Egypt would not "contribute" to lessening world tensions.

Still, he kept thinking that maybe . . . On Oct. 10 he told the American Legion the Russians had a habit of zig-zagging to get what they wanted, but said he thought world opinion "will act as a compulsion on the Soviet Union to relax its grip upon East Germany and to permit unification."

From the way the Russians acted when Dulles met them later that month in Geneva, world opinion was something which didn't seem to be influencing them at all. Dulles came back from that meeting and reported to the nation Nov. 18.

He said a number of questions were in the air, as a result of the meeting, including this one: "Will cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet zig-zagging. In fact, he said, the Russians see to have repudiated the spirit of Geneva.

Hilinski Family To Get Degree

COLUMBUS (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Hilinski of Euclid tomorrow will receive the diploma their football star son earned before his death Oct. 21.

Ohio State University announced that the degree of bachelor of arts will be awarded posthumously to Richard A. Hilinski. At the time of the fatal crash near Ann Arbor, Mich., the star tackle on OSU's 1954 national championship team had completed all requirements for his degree. He was continuing his studies in the College of Medicine.

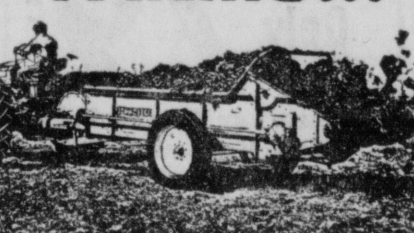

Postal Business Hitting New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department estimated today it will handle something more than 17 billion pieces of mail in the final quarter of this year.

The figure, about a billion pieces higher than that for the last three months of 1954, amounts to an average of more than 300 pieces for every family in America.

This month's deliveries alone, reflecting the holiday rush, are expected to reach a record of about 7,330,000,000 pieces, or 2½ billion above the normal 1955 month. The December handle last year totaled 6,900,000,000 pieces.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Secretary of State Dulles wanted to write a book on his feelings about the Russians over the past five months he could call it "Live and Learn."

In that time he expressed plenty of qualified misgivings that the Russians had changed, but through it all, at least judging from what he said, he still clung to a feeling of optimism that maybe they had.

He went to last July's Summit meeting in Geneva, where President Eisenhower talked with Soviet Premier Bulganin and the heads of the British and French governments, a meeting whose startling pleasantness developed the phrase "spirit of Geneva."

When he returned from there, he was reportedly worried the Western Powers might assume wrongly that the Russians had truly softened up and that it was all right to relax a bit. But on Sept. 22, in a speech to the United Nations, he said:

"A new spirit does indeed prevail, with greater flexibility and less brittleness in international relations."

That sounded pretty optimistic, and he still sounded that way 23 days before he went back to Geneva for his October meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the foreign ministers of Britain and France.

On Oct. 4—the Geneva meeting was Oct. 27—he told a news conference he believed the four foreign ministers would make positive progress at Geneva toward the reunification of Germany.

(As it turned out, they made no progress on anything, and particularly they made no progress on Germany. Dulles and Molotov went to Geneva with opposite ideas on how to reunify the country and neither budged an inch to accept the other's.)

The Russians were bothering Dulles nevertheless on Oct. 4, for he told reporters that day he had twice warned the Soviets that Communist shipment of arms to Egypt would not "contribute" to lessening world tensions.

Still, he kept thinking that maybe . . . On Oct. 10 he told the American Legion the Russians had a habit of zig-zagging to get what they wanted, but said he thought world opinion "will act as a compulsion on the Soviet Union to relax its grip upon East Germany and to permit unification."

From the way the Russians acted when Dulles met them later that month in Geneva, world opinion was something which didn't seem to be influencing them at all. Dulles came back from that meeting and reported to the nation Nov. 18.

He said a number of questions were in the air, as a result of the meeting, including this one: "Will

the so-called cold war be resumed in full vigor? He still seemed to be hoping for a silver lining for he answered the question:

"We must assume that the Soviet Union will continue its efforts short of war to make its system prevail . . . We can, however, hope that this competition will not entail all the same hostility and animosity which so defiled relations between us in the past."

That hope faded in a hurry. Between then and now Bulganin and Chubby Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev visited Southern Asia, where they spread pure poison — without sugar — about the West and the United States and Britain.

Thursday Dulles seemed like a badly disillusioned man. In Paris, talking to the NATO Council of Ministers, he said the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet zig-zagging.

In fact, he said, the Russians see to have repudiated the spirit of Geneva.

Hilinski Family To Get Degree

COLUMBUS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Hilinski of Euclid tomorrow will receive the diploma their football star son earned before his death Oct. 21.

Ohio State University announced that the degree of bachelor of arts will be awarded posthumously to Richard A. Hilinski. At the time of the fatal crash near Ann Arbor, Mich., the star tackle on OSU's 1954 national championship team had completed all requirements for his degree. He was continuing his studies in the College of Medicine.

Postal Business Hitting New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department estimated today it will handle something more than 17 billion pieces of mail in the final quarter of this year.

The figure, about a billion pieces higher than that for the last three months of 1954, amounts to an average of more than 300 pieces for every family in America.

This month's deliveries alone, reflecting the holiday rush, are expected to reach a record of about 7,330,000,000 pieces, or 2 1/4 billion above the normal 1955 month. The December handle last year totaled 6,900,000,000 pieces.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Will you please tell me, is it natural for a mother to want her grown children to look nice when they are home for a visit? Or is this a sign that she doesn't love them?

My kids think I attach exaggerated importance to personal appearance. My daughter once said that she can tell, when she is well dressed, that I like her better, and I believe, honestly, that I do.

Sally, as I shall call my daughter, is one who sometimes looks beautiful, and again looks dowdy and almost homely. I've known other persons like that—who look different somehow at different times.

Take Sally, for instance. When she isn't looking beautiful, when she wears an ordinary cheap dress and lets her hair string down. Well, then I am ashamed, for I know people in our small town are saying: "Did you see Sally Jones? Hasn't she gone to seed!" In high school her hair was so pretty and she always looked so nice." Sally is married, apparently happily, and has a baby.

Son Looks Like Tramp
If there is anything in this world that Sally considers of less importance than her looks, it is what the town thinks; or what I think, for that matter.

My son Tom, unmarried, is the same. He can look like a prince or a tramp—and does so, as suits his fancy. Both live away from here. But I think they should look nice during the brief times they are visiting here. Maybe I don't love them!

DEAR P. A.: Love is concerned to promote the proper happiness, basic well being and fullness of life of the beloved. Selfishness and vanity are concerned with "what people think"—pro or con—about one's social superiority-strivings.

It seems to me the natural wish of a really loving, outgoing, wholesome mother is to have her children happy, comfortable and emotionally at ease with her, during visits "home"—when they come back, for short times, from lives of their own. She would rather they be true to themselves (within the bounds of morality and legality, of course) than on parade to create a falsely fine impression.

Your children's latterday defiance of your audience - conscious desire to see them always looking their best (well groomed and well dressed), suggests that they've carried over from childhood, and now dare to assert, an unreasonable hostility to your social views and accent on appearances.

Their failure to try to please you during their visits is regrettably discourteous, in my opinion—if only because they are guests and you are the hostess. If they were emotionally mature in the filial relationship, they wouldn't make this mistake. I think their rudeness is due to the fact that they become involuntarily and childish on the defensive, to preserve (they feel) their hard-won claims to adult leeway of action, in their first-hand dealings with mama.

Fritters Opportunity
In the deadlock over dress, you are missing opportunities to be friends with your children on a grown-up basis of "live and let live" (within reason) — which is one of the better periods in family experience, for those who have the good sense to relax in it. Your dither over what the neighbors may think, negatively about your children is symptomatic of personal vanity.

Your children are (to you) not so much individuals with inherent rights, as they are extensions of your efforts to be somebody special. You aren't so loving as you are anxious in your conduct of life. In a keyed-up way, you tend to treat the children as puppets, which they resent. Hence, as young adults whose contemporaries regard sloppy dress as the wearer's business, they feel justified in rejecting your standards, unblushingly.

To ease nervous tension on your part, study "The Christian's Secret of a Happy Life" (Revel)—an inspirational classic by Hannah Whitall Smith. The book is full of spiritual charm and wisdom.

Bank Specializes In Pension Funds

CLEVELAND (AP) — Central National Bank of Cleveland announced recently it has created a new fund which should be of interest to small and medium-sized firms planning to set up pension or profit-sharing plans.

Called the "combined investment fund for pension and profit-sharing trust," it is the first fund in Cleveland permitting each firm to pick its own plan and establish its own tailor-made trust.

Under the fund plans, a company formulates its own pension or profit-sharing plan and secures treasury department approval. The trust agreement makes the bank trustee and provides that the trustee may combine funds of the various plans in the group arrangement for investment.

Trading Stamp Idea Revived By Keener U.S. Competition

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Merchants—particularly grocers—report a big revival in trading stamps across the nation.

It's born of today's keener retail competition. The aim is to get a shopper into a particular store. And it seems to work, just as it did in an earlier day.

Today's collectors of trading stamps are estimated to cash in around one billion dollars worth a year for various gadgets offered as premiums.

The housewife treasures these bits of paper handed out according to how much she spends. To her it means getting something for nothing—even if the statisticians contend it doesn't really work out that way because it can only lead to higher prices.

Stamp companies sell the trading stamps to the grocer for from 1/4 to 1/3 cent a piece. Usually a stamp is handed out with each 10 cents of purchases.

When a customer has finally purchased, say $50 worth of groceries, she will consult a catalogue, pick out a $12 to $14 gadget and get it with her stamp books at a premium center run by the stamp company.

The housewife feels she's got a rebate on her food bill. The stamp company has the proceeds of the sale of the stamps, plus the windfall that not all stamps will be returned for redemption.

How about the merchant? If he's the only one in town to have a trading stamp plan, his trade may rise as much as 40 per cent. The increase in gross sales more than makes up for the cost.

Who actually bears the freight? In the above example, the rival merchants without stamps are in a sense bearing the user's cost of stamps and premiums through their own loss of trade.

But if the rival merchants adopt stamp plans in self defense, soon all are likely to be right back competitively where they started.

When all merchants are passing out stamps, the tendency is to make up for the cost of the stamps and the handling by raising mark-ups.

Middletown Denies It Splits Races

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Middletown Board of Education does not believe it is practicing racial segregation in the schools. Board President Joseph F. Woodruff said last night the board would "welcome" a friendly suit to determine the issue.

Woodruff's comment came after State Sen. Joseph Avellone of Woodruff asserted the board has assured people of Middletown it "would comply forthwith, regardless of the expense or inconvenience, should the courts find any violation of their constitutional rights."

The board president asserted that about 13 per cent of Middletown's 1,000 Negro school children attend one elementary school. He said the school is in an all Negro

$22 Million State Building Plan Outlined

Ohio Mental Hygiene,
Correction Chieftain
Tells 1956 Program

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has outlined a $22,235,000 building program for 1956 to be financed out of a state bond issue.

The department's director, Dr. John D. Porterfield, went over the program yesterday with Gov. Frank J. Lausche, John Wilcoxon, state finance director, and key men on the new Capital Improvement Commission.

After the long meeting, the governor said Dr. Porterfield's program "is sound and reflects the immediate need of new buildings." The governor said that all projects "are of pressing need and of practically equal importance. In determining priority, the difference in need was so negligible that the task was difficult."

Next year, 30 million dollars of bond money can be spent for state buildings. The voters last Nov. 8 approved a 150 million dollar bond issue to finance a five-year program, with half that amount going to the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Dr. Porterfield said there is nothing in the law prohibiting his department from getting more than half of the funds available the first year provided the department's total for five years is not more than 75 million dollars.

The governor said officials of the six state-operated universities within the next few days will submit their list of buildings needed immediately "to cope with the huge enrollment that is anticipated."

Lausche added the State Department of Education, through its director, Dr. R. M. Eymann, "is working on the needed legislation for carrying into effect that part of the bond issue program dealing with local schools."

The governor said he hopes the General Assembly will accept Dr. Porterfield's recommendations in accordance with Porterfield's priority list.

He referred to a session of the Legislature that begins Jan. 16 to pass a one-cent additional tax on cigarettes to retire building bonds. The Legislature also will go over suggested improvements.

Dr. Porterfield's recommendations included 13 projects for the mental hygiene division at an estimated total cost of $14,935,000.

He figured the Division of Correction building needs for the first year at an estimated $4,300,000, including $3,900,000 to build the first phase of a new 1,500-inmate reformatory at Lebanon.

Complete costs of the reformatory, which would take years to build, is estimated at 12 million dollars.

Dr. Porterfield would like the Division of Juvenile Research to get about three million dollars to expand its Juvenile Diagnostic Center and provide a psychiatric treatment institution.

Both the governor and Dr. Porterfield said the proposed projects would fit well into a long-range building program.

The projects include:

Juvenile institutions:

1. A 150-bed central reception and classification center addition to the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus for the first admission and diagnostic study of all delinquent children, estimated cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

2. A 100-bed psychiatric treatment institution for the medical care of emotionally disturbed and borderline mentally ill delinquent children; estimated cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

Penal institutions:

1. First step in a new state reformatory at Lebanon which eventually would have capacity of 1,500; estimated cost $3,900,000.

2. Final phase of Marion Correctional Institution (auditorium and chapel); estimated cost $400,000.

Mental hygiene:

1. Columbus State School—completion of 150-bed reception and diagnostic center at $650,000; centralized food preparation and service unit, cost 1 1/2 million dollars, and additional boilers to augment heating capacity, $150,000.

2. Apple Creek State Hospital—replacement of 100-bed patient building, cost $350,000; 120-bed reception and diagnostic center for admission and classification of mentally retarded persons, cost one million dollars.

3. Hawthornden State Hospital—new 200-bed patient building, cost one million dollars; expansion of power house, laundry and sewage facilities, cost $585,000.

4. Cleveland State Hospital—100-bed medical and surgical building for care of physically ill mental patients, cost $750,000.

5. Cleveland Receiving Hospital—additional floors on new wing to house laboratory, etc., cost $700,000.

6. Dayton State Hospital—100-bed children's psychiatric unit, cost 1 1/2 million dollars; completion of 100-bed adult receiving hospital, cost $250,000.

7. Toledo State Hospital—100-bed addition to receiving hospital and intensive therapy unit, cost $500,000.

8. Tiffin State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

9. Gallipolis State Institute—100-bed medical and surgical building to provide physical care facilities

Youthful Theft Gang Rounded Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said yesterday a gang of young thieves was broken up with the placing of charges against five youths who officers said had stolen between $20,000 and $30,000 worth of loot in the last four months.

Detective Sgt. Harold C. Lockwood said the gang, using a stolen car, specialized in burglaries.

Delinquency charges were placed against four juveniles. Joseph Novak, 39, a bartender, was charged with receiving stolen property from the gang.

Boy, 4, Decides To Do-It-Himself

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "do-it-yourself" craze apparently knows no bounds. When 4-year-old Billy Hawkins thought his father a little slow showing up with a promised Christmas tree the other day, Billy acted on his own. He took a small saw from his tool kit and cut down a young cedar tree in the backyard of the Hawkins' Columbus home.

for epileptic and mentally deficient patients, cost $750,000.

10. Cambridge State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

11. Columbus institutions—125-bed medical and surgical unit to provide centralized hospital services for physically ill patients of Columbus State Hospital, Columbus State School and Orient State Institute, cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

13. Columbus State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

Cops Skeptical About Man's Slaying Story

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harvey Lee Rush, clinging to a story that he murdered a little girl here, arrives today at Cleveland Hopkins Airport after a flight from Los Angeles.

Police were increasingly skeptical that Rush, who was arrested in California on a drunk charge and volunteered the murder story, was the killer of 10-year-old Beverly Potts, who disappeared Aug. 24, 1951.

Detective Chief James E. McArthur declared:

"I think his story is 90 per cent bull. I think he is a pathological liar who is having trouble remembering the first lies he told in his original story. But we owe it to Beverly Potts' parents and I owe it to myself to bring him back here, that's the only way we can be 100 per cent certain."

Accompanying Rush on his flight from the west was Cleveland Detective George Gackowski, who took custody of Rush, 46, when Los Angeles police released him on the drunk charge.

Gackowski, after questioning the man on several occasions said, "He is contradicting himself."

Rush, in a three-page statement that dealt with during a young girl at a carnival, with candy bars, taking her to a woods and then slugging her fatally, said the incident occurred in 1952, when there were no such unsolved cases here.

A hospital attendant, Rush has given various locations for the site of the carnival, and has not described the Potts girl accurately. Other contradictions regarding the known facts of the case have been noted by police.

Dashboard Gadget Pours Out Whisky

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Ola Mae Anderson had the newest thing in automobile dashboards, or at least she did until Sheriff Preston Hornsby found it.

The sheriff said the cafe owner was serving moonshine whisky on tap from the dashboard of her car. A tank was installed under the floorboard with a copper tube running to a spigot under the dash. A fuel pump and electric switch were rigged up to pump the stuff. The woman was booked for violating the prohibition law (Tuskegee is a dry county) and released her under $50 bond.

$22 Million State Building Plan Outlined

Ohio Mental Hygiene,
Correction Chieftain
Tells 1956 Program

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction has outlined a $22,235,000 building program for 1956 to be financed out of a state bond issue.

The department's director, Dr. John D. Porterfield, went over the program yesterday with Gov. Frank J. Lausche, John Wilcox, state finance director, and key men on the new Capital Improvements Commission.

After the long meeting, the governor said Dr. Porterfield's program "is sound and reflects the immediate need of new buildings." The governor said that all projects "are of pressing need and of practically equal importance. In determining priority, the difference in need was so negligible that the task was difficult."

Next year, 30 million dollars of bond money can be spent for state buildings. The voters last Nov. 8 approved a 150 million dollar bond issue to finance a five-year program, with half that amount going to the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Dr. Porterfield said there is nothing in the law prohibiting his department from getting more than half of the funds available the first year provided the department's total for five years is not more than 75 million dollars.

The governor said officials of the six state-operated universities within the next few days will submit their list of buildings needed immediately "to cope with the huge enrollment that is anticipated." Lausche added the State Department of Education, through its director, Dr. R. M. Eyman, "is working on the needed legislation for carrying into effect that part of the bond issue program dealing with local schools."

The governor said he hopes the General Assembly will accept Dr. Porterfield's recommendations in accordance with Porterfield's priority list.

He referred to a session of the Legislature that begins Jan. 16 to pass a one-cent additional tax on cigarettes to retire building bonds. The Legislature also will go over suggested improvements.

Dr. Porterfield's recommendations included 13 projects for the mental hygiene division at an estimated total cost of $14,935,000.

He figured the Division of Correction building needs for the first year at an estimated $4,300,000, including $3,900,000 to build the first phase of a new 1,500-inmate reformatory at Lebanon.

Complete cost of the reformatory, which would take years to build, is estimated at 12 million dollars.

Dr. Porterfield would like the Division of Juvenile Research to get about three million dollars to expand its Juvenile Diagnostic Center and provide a psychiatric treatment institution.

Both the governor and Dr. Porterfield said the proposed projects would fit well into a long-range building program.

The projects include:

Juvenile institutions:

1. A 150-bed central reception and classification center addition to the Juvenile Diagnostic Center in Columbus for the first admission and diagnostic study of all delinquent children, estimated cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

2. A 100-bed psychiatric treatment institution for the medical care of emotionally disturbed and borderline mentally ill delinquent children; estimated cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

Penal institutions:

1. First step in a new state reformatory at Lebanon which eventually would have capacity of 1,500; estimated cost $3,900,000.

2. Final phase of Marion Correctional Institution (auditorium and chapel); estimated cost $400,000.

Mental hygiene:

1. Columbus State School—completion of 150-bed reception and diagnostic center at $650,000; centralized food preparation and service unit, cost 1 1/2 million dollars, and additional boilers to augment heating capacity, $150,000.

2. Apple Creek State Hospital—replacement of 100-bed patient building, cost $350,000; 120-bed reception and diagnostic center for admission and classification of mentally retarded persons, cost one million dollars.

3. Hawthorn State Hospital—new 200-bed patient building, cost one million dollars; expansion of power house, laundry and sewage facilities, cost $585,000.

4. Cleveland State Hospital—100-bed medical and surgical building for care of physically ill mental patients, cost $750,000.

5. Cleveland Receiving Hospital—additional floors on new wing to house laboratory, etc., cost $700,000.

6. Dayton State Hospital—100-bed children's psychiatric unit, cost 1 1/2 million dollars; completion of 100-bed adult receiving hospital, cost $250,000.

7. Toledo State Hospital—100-bed addition to receiving hospital and intensive therapy unit, cost $500,000.

8. Tiffin State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

9. Gallipolis State Institute—100-bed medical and surgical building to provide physical care facilities

Youthful Theft Gang Rounded Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said yesterday a gang of young thieves was broken up with the placing of charges against five youths who officers said had stolen between $20,000 and $30,000 worth of loot in the last four months.

Detective Sgt. Harold C. Lockwood said the gang, using a stolen car, specialized in burglaries.

Delinquency charges were placed against four juveniles. Joseph Novak, 39, a bartender, was charged with receiving stolen property from the gang.

Boy, 4, Decides To Do-It-Himself

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "do-it-yourself" craze apparently knows no bounds. When 4-year-old Billy Hawkins thought his father a little slow showing up with a promised Christmas tree the other day, Billy acted on his own. He took a small saw from his tool kit and cut down a young cedar tree in the backyard of the Hawkins' Columbus home.

for epileptic and mentally deficient patients, cost $750,000.

10. Cambridge State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

11. Columbus institutions—125-bed medical and surgical unit to provide centralized hospital services for physically ill patients of Columbus State Hospital, Columbus State School and Orient State Institute, cost 1 1/2 million dollars.

13. Columbus State Hospital—120-bed reception and intensive therapy unit, cost $750,000.

SURE SIGN THAT the economy has fought itself free of the material shortages of the recent past is reflected in the mounting advertising campaign of the country's telephone companies to sell their services. Within recent weeks Western Electric Co., manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone system, gave the tipoff to this new state of affairs by taking full page ads to proclaim the availability of a fascinating array of new telephone equipment. Why use a drab black telephone handset when you can have a two-tone job? Want a telephone with a lighted dial, or one that can be moved around and plugged in from room to room? Or how about a 'phone with an automatic answering device?

These and other marvels in home and office communications are now the object of aggressive merchandising for the reason that the telephone companies have virtually caught up with the demand for service.

Where only two or three years ago most companies were assigning new instruments on a priority basis, the inexorable law of supply and demand has now taken over.

Telephone companies, particularly Bell, are investing millions in new equipment, especially automatic long-lines dialing centers, so that Americans anywhere can talk to anyone at virtually a flip of the wrist. Never in history has a people's penchant for conversation been so completely indulged. We had better be talking sense.

BACK IN THE MARKET

FOR 25 YEARS, following Black Friday of October, 1929, the public has been cautiously wary in investing or speculating in stocks. In fact, purchases have been mainly on the investing side. But there are indications—such as days when more than 4,000,000 shares change ownership on the New York market—that the public may again be toying with the idea that there are quick and juicy profits in stocks.

With averages above the 1929 mark for the first time in a quarter of a century, warnings are being issued to the public to avoid the temptation to speculate. Probably these will go unheeded as usual.

The other side of the stock market picture is that while quotations are above the 1929 highs, the dollar today is worth only half as much as it was then, and the country as a whole is more prosperous. It is also contended that speculators have by no means taken over the market. With three times as many issues listed on the board, today's volume of trading is only about half what it was in the climactic stages of the boom of '29.

Also, monetary, credit and trading controls are available today that did not exist 25 years ago. The government has just imposed a minimum margin requirement of 60 per cent. In 1929 a margin of 20 per cent was the rule.

What 1929 proved was that an unbalanced economy in time will fall. Business activity started to decline and unemployment to rise months before the market crash of that year. The stock market, if it is a mirror of the economy, need not greatly concern the American people if business conditions generally continue to improve.

WORLD OUTLOOK GOOD

A FACTOR SELDOM discussed in predictions of the future is the state of the economies of leading foreign nations. But at the moment business is good in all the nations of the free world. Business depres-

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I see by the papers that Sigma Delta Chi, which I am told is a professional journalistic fraternity, will seek $650,000 from a national foundation to study "the performance of daily newspapers in covering news of the 1956 Presidential campaign." It looks to me as though somebody is looking for a job and I recommend that the Fund for the Republic might give him the $650,000 to do with as he likes.

After all, that is how the Fund gets its money from the Ford Foundation. True, the job could be done for nothing by some scholarly chap looking for a subject for a Ph.D. thesis; it is easy and would cost perhaps $500 for typing. The newspapers could be found in a library.

It could write his report right now without charging anything. Most newspapers will give more space to the Democrats than to the Republicans because the Democratic candidate will be more colorful than the Republican. That is the way it has been for many years. William Jennings Bryan was more colorful than William McKinley. Theodore Roosevelt was a news-worthy fellow but they made a Vice President of him. Few Vice Presidents are worth more than a mention unless they are like Henry Wallace, the Samson of the New Deal.

Neither Bryan nor Wallace was elected to the Presidency but Theodore Roosevelt was, after McKinley was killed, and he made copy in and out of the office because he was an interesting, exciting person.

Surely nobody the Republicans nominated to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt was as exciting as the great New Dealer. Wendell Willkie tried hard but his voice gave out. Besides, Willkie was a synthetic personality, just a country boy surprised by the sounds and sights of the big city. Anyhow, he did not make the Presidency and is practically forgotten except by a cult in New York who get their names in the newspapers once a year when they worship his memory at a banquet.

It has been repeated that Alice Longworth, the most intelligent of living Roosevelts, once said of Thomas E. Dewey, "Who ever saw a soufflé rise twice?" I did not verify the remark because it is too good to question. It can apply as well to Adlai Stevenson.

Certainly Mr. Dewey produces little news when he runs for office. On the other hand, Harry Truman can say nothing in the most interesting and news-worthy manner. He is either threatening to kick someone in the groin or is calling a man a perfect but unmannerly description.

It takes challenging ingenuity to report Truman without going to jail for lascivious language. So Truman always gets a break in the news, even if what he says adds nothing to history, not even to his kind of history.

So in this campaign, that is 1956, should Adlai Stevenson run, his speeches will not be as interesting as in 1952, for two reasons: one, we have heard them; two, one of his more literary ghosts died. If Harri-man runs, his speeches will have the interest that he will be attacking the Republicans for what the Democrats initiated. It is a switch that will fascinate, particularly the Taft Republicans.

sions in the United States in the past have nearly always been preceded, or at a n y rate accompanied, by similar slowdowns in European nations.

As the new year starts, business is good in England, France and Italy, and an all-out boom is predicted for West Germany as a result of the decision to rearm that country. In other countries in the free world where the people are not as well off, they are living better than at any time in history.

Whether business depressions spread from one country to another because of economic or psychological factors, neither is operating today. The world economic picture confirms the predictions of continued or increasing prosperity in the United States.

No Cinderellas Wanted

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U) — Anybody want to be a movie star? Well, now is the time to try.

"Fresh talent has more opportunity now than at any time I can remember," remarked film producer Hal B. Wallis.

"As more and more stars form their own companies and appear in fewer films, the supply of veteran players has diminished. The discovery of new talent has become a problem of real importance to the motion picture industry."

This statement by Wallis, however, is not an invitation to every good looking stage-struck girl in Corns Corners to fly out to Hollywood and beat on his office door.

The idea still exists that all one needs to get ahead in pictures is a pretty face or a good shape," he said. "If that was ever true once, it isn't true now."

"You have to have real acting talent—a spark of personality that the camera can catch. Anybody who really wants to get ahead in the movies should first try to get as much experience as possible in little theater work or playing summer stock."

"The Cinderella legend persists. It is said that many of the top film actresses got their start as elevator operators or soda fountain waitresses. Perhaps so. But I never have found any real talent while riding elevators or sitting at a drug fountain."

Wallis has a reputation in the industry as a star maker, and the record shows he has been one of its most astute judges of new talent. Among stars he introduced to the screen are Shirley Booth, Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Elizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey, Corinne Calvet and Charlton Heston.

"We find potential new stars by going to the theater, by watching television, by interviewing young bit players," he said.

"Sometimes, but very rarely, I sign up a new actor without even having him make a screen test. I saw Burt Lancaster in only one act of a Broadway play and signed him up the next day."

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
WHEN Morgan Channing and her blond companion came into the supper room, Lora's interest quickened as if she were attending a play. Wade, who was beside her, could not escape these two now, and she wondered what the unpredictable Morgan would do if she came face to face with him.

The encounter followed almost at once. Wade had not seen the two step into line behind him. Reaching toward a bowl of potato salad, he startled Morgan's arm and turned at once in apology. The flare of color to his face when he saw Morgan so near at hand was more than Lora had expected. She watched him, startled now, for the first time putting some belief in the things his mother had said.

Morgan spoke before Wade had completed his apology to Mr. Norwood. Her manner was easy as that of a lady who meets an old friend whom she has seen no longer ago than yesterday, but Lora found the look she turned upon Wade less casual.

"Good-evening, Wade. May I present Mr. Norwood? I think you and he may have a number of interests in common."

Wade set down his plate and took the other man's hand. He looked as if he wanted to ignore Morgan, but could not do so without being conspicuous. He spoke to her restrainedly, managing an exchange of pleasantries with Norwood before they started on about the quick intensity of her first look and now seemed a little contemptuous and amused. This belied Mother Tyler's belief that she still wanted Wade, Lora thought. Surely a woman could not love a man and look at him so scornfully. At least she—Lora—could not.

In the dark early hours of the morning, when they drove home through falling snow, they had little to say. Obviously Wade was lost in memories of his own and wanted no breaking through on her part.

Lora went up to her room and lighted a candle. There, where she had left it in the middle of the floor the garnet-hued gown burned like a dark flame. She picked it up and hung it away in the wardrobe sadly. The green dress she carried back to Virginia's room to replace in the wardrobe there.

In the light from the candle she carried she saw with a start that Wade lay across the bed. When he heard her he sat up.

"I must ask you not to come in here again," he said, and his tone was colder than she had ever heard it.

She did not speak to him at all. She drew her robe close about her and hung the green gown away as quickly as she could. She did not look at him again as she turned and went out of the room, her shadow swaying up the wall as she moved. There was nothing in her now of pity or gentleness. She felt only a despairing impatience for the man on the bed, and she did not in the least care whether or not he knew it.

In spite of her few hours of sleep, Lora awoke while it was still dark on Christmas morning. For a few moments she lay quiet and warm beneath her quilts, feeling the weight of unhappiness pressing her down. She could not recall in the fog of sleep why she must feel unhappy, but knew only that despair lay waiting to engulf her as soon as she could remember.

Then recollection of the party and the ending last night swept back. Today was Jemmy's day and neither she nor Wade matter-sure the blaze had caught fire she returned to distributing packages beneath the tree.

Before long she heard a creaking on the stairs and a moment later the door opened a crack and Jemmy looked in uncertainly.

"Come in by the fire and get warm," said Lora cheerfully, as though he had never stormed at her last night because of the green dress.

Relieved, he sidled into the room in his nightshirt, his own arms filled with tissue-wrapped packages. Over one arm hung a long red and white striped stocking. He distributed the parcels beneath the tree and then turned to her doubtfully.

"I didn't know if I was supposed to hang up a stocking. Of course, I don't believe in all that chimney stuff, but I thought—"

"Of course you're supposed to," Lora said. "But it should have been hung up on Christmas eve. Don't make such a mistake next year. Now you'll have to scold back to bed while somebody fills it. It's much too early to be up for good anyway."

When she heard the stairs creak again she busied herself stuffing his stocking. The little paper-weight with its snow scene went into the toe and on top of it went an orange with a green ribbon tied about its plump sides. Next a loose handful of nuts and a small packet of sweets, a little calendar with a bright angel pictured on it, and right at the top, hooked over the stocking edge, the wishbone she had saved, graced with a big red bow.

By the time she was done the unhappy weight which she had awakened had lifted a little and she hummed to herself as she stood back to examine the effect of her work. The packages looked gay and inviting, and by spreading them out to the best effect she had accomplished an illusion of plenty.

Consider Child's Age When Purchasing Toys

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHAT kind of a Christmas toy should you get Aunt Lucy's baby? Undoubtedly, many of you are wrestling with the toy-buying problem right now. Well, maybe I can help you. Let's see just what kind of toys babies should have and when they should have them.

Even a very young baby will appreciate a brightly colored dangling object which can be hung from the wall, ceiling or the crib itself.

Soothing Sounds

From about a month and a half on, an infant will be pleased with toys which make soothing sounds such as a music box, musical balls and the like.

Between three months and a year, and even after, tots greatly enjoy toys they can shake and rattle. Don't worry about someone else getting the same idea. A baby in this age bracket certainly needs several such toys.

You'll help a baby, three months or older, to stimulate his eye and muscle skills if you give him a toy which he can hit or grasp. Many such toys come equipped with rubber suction cups which can easily be fastened to high chairs or cribs.

Practical Items

After a baby reaches this age, he also needs several toys he can freely chew, bite and suck. Many practical items are made of plastic or rubber.

Bathtub toys also are good gifts for tots of three months or better. Just about anything that floats, as long as it doesn't have sharp points or corners, is all right.

A baby old enough to sit up and grasp things will get a kick out of toys he can really bang around. Punching bags, large stuffed balls, hammer and peg sets and similar items really will be appreciated.

Teddy bears, stuffed bunnies, pandas, just about anything he can cuddle and love, are good presents for a tot past the age of six months.

Building Blocks

By the time he's a year old, a baby is ready for toys he can work with. Simple building blocks, peg and ring sets and such will help develop his eyes and hands as well as his mind.

For a walking or creeping baby, pull toys of all kinds will give him a lot of fun and good exercise. So, maybe you had better clip this out and take it along when you do your shopping for babies of friends or relatives. It might make your job a little easier.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

H. J. G.: After the birth of my third child, I developed milk glands under my arms. My physician suggested I have them removed. Is there any medical reason why I should permit surgery?

Answer: It is advisable that you follow your physician's suggestion in this matter. Otherwise, the glands may cause some difficulty.

Claus has increased in weight in the last two years from 260 to 340 pounds. We wouldn't doubt but what he's beginning to look more like Santa than the Jolly Old Saint does himself!

Japan's national table tennis tournament drew 800,000 entries. Over there the question is: EVERYBODY for tennis?

New Jersey archers bagged 346 deer this year. The survivors, no doubt, wish the nimrods would go back to using something safer — like guns.

Some pooch-lover broke into the city pound in Port Arthur, Canada, and freed all 20 of its canine inmates. It's a good bet if the cops find him, he himself, will wind up in the doghouse.

A balding gent, in his late fifties, felt his pep slipping away, and went to his doctor for a check-up. The medico announced, "Nothing wrong with you that carrots, and plenty of them, can't cure. Take as many as you like." A month later, the doctor poked a distinct improvement. "Just go on eating carrots," he prescribed. The patient jumped from his chair, saying, "Carrots? Good Lord, Doc, I thought you said claret. I've been drinking a bottle a day!"

A finicky customer at a roadside drive-in complained about the looks of his fried eggs. "Maybe you'd like them turned over?" suggested a helpful waitress. "Exactly," agreed the customer. "Turn them over to the Museum of Natural History."

What distinguishes Moscow department stores from similar institutions outside the Iron Curtain, maintains Gene Sherman, is that in Moscow the customer is always left.

SURE SIGN THAT the economy has fought itself free of the material shortages of the recent past is reflected in the mounting advertising campaign of the country's telephone companies to sell their services.

Within recent weeks Western Electric Co., manufacturing arm of the Bell Telephone system, gave the tipoff to this new state of affairs by taking full page ads to proclaim the availability of a fascinating array of new telephone equipment. Why use a drab black telephone handset when you can have a two-tone job? Want a telephone with a lighted dial, or one that can be moved around and plugged in from room to room? Or how about a phone with an automatic answering device?

These and other marvels in home and office communications are now the object of aggressive merchandising for the reason that the telephone companies have virtually caught up with the demand for service.

Where only two or three years ago most companies were assigning new instruments on a priority basis, the inexorable law of supply and demand has now taken over.

Telephone companies, particularly Bell, are investing millions in new equipment, especially automatic long-lines dialing centers, so that Americans anywhere can talk to anyone at virtually a flip of the wrist. Never in history has a people's penchant for conversation been so completely indulged. We had better be talking sense.

BACK IN THE MARKET

FOR 25 YEARS, following Black Friday of October, 1929, the public has been cautiously wary in investing or speculating in stocks. In fact, purchases have been mainly on the investing side. But there are indications—such as days when more than 4,000,000 shares change ownership on the New York market—that the public may again be toying with the idea that there are quick and juicy profits in stocks.

With averages above the 1929 mark for the first time in a quarter of a century, warnings are being issued to the public to avoid the temptation to speculate. Probably these will go unheeded as usual.

The other side of the stock market picture is that while quotations are above the 1929 highs, the dollar today is worth only half as much as it was then, and the country as a whole is more prosperous. It is also contended that speculators have by no means taken over the market. With three times as many issues listed on the board, today's volume of trading is only about half what it was in the climactic stages of the boom of '29.

Also, monetary, credit and trading controls are available today that did not exist 25 years ago. The government has just imposed a minimum margin requirement of 60 per cent. In 1929 a margin of 20 per cent was the rule.

What 1929 proved was that an unbalanced economy in time will fall. Business activity started to decline and unemployment to rise months before the market crash of that year. The stock market, if it is a mirror of the economy, need not greatly concern the American people if business conditions generally continue to improve.

These Days

I see by the papers that Sigma Delta Chi, which I am told is a professional journalistic fraternity, will seek $650,000 from a national foundation to study "the performance of daily newspapers in covering news of the 1956 Presidential campaign." It looks to me as though somebody is looking for a job and I recommend that the Fund for the Republic might give him the $650,000 to do with as he likes.

After all, that is how the Fund gets its money from the Ford Foundation. True, the job could be done for nothing by some scholarly chap looking for a subject for a Ph.D. thesis; it is easy and would cost perhaps $500 for typing. The newspapers could be found in a library.

It could write his report right now without charging anything. Most newspapers will give more space to the Democrats than to the Republicans because the Democratic candidate will be more colorful than the Republican. That is the way it has been for many years. William Jennings Bryan was more colorful than William McKinley. Theodore Roosevelt was a newsworthy fellow but they made a Vice President of him. Few Vice Presidents are worth more than a mention unless they are like Henry Wallace, the Samson of the New Deal.

Neither Bryan nor Wallace was elected to the Presidency but Theodore Roosevelt was, after McKinley was killed, and he made copy in and out of the office because he was an interesting, exciting person.

Surely nobody the Republicans nominated to run against Franklin D. Roosevelt was as exciting as the great New Dealer. Wendell Willkie tried hard but his voice gave out. Besides, Willkie was a synthetic personality, just a country boy surprised by the sounds and sights of the big city. Anyhow, he did not make the Presidency and is practically forgotten except by a cult in New York who get their names in the newspapers once a year when they worship his memory at a banquet.

It has been repeated that Alice Longworth, the most intelligent of living Roosevelts, once said of Thomas E. Dewey, "Who ever saw a soufflé rise twice?" I did not verify the remark because it is too good to question. It can apply as well to Adlai Stevenson.

Certainly Mr. Dewey produces little news when he runs for office. On the other hand, Harry Truman can say nothing in the most interesting and news-worthy manner. He is either threatening to kick someone in the groin or is calling a man a perfect but unmanly description.

It takes challenging ingenuity to report Truman without going to jail for lascivious language. So Truman always gets a break in the news, even if what he says adds nothing to history, not even to his kind of history.

So in this campaign, that is 1956, should Adlai Stevenson run, his speeches will not be as interesting as in 1952, for two reasons: one, we have heard them; two, one of his more literary ghosts died. If Harrison runs, his speeches will have the interest that he will be attacking the Republicans for what the Democrats initiated. It is a switch that will fascinate, particularly the Taft Republicans.

sions in the United States in the past have nearly always been preceded, or at a n y rate accompanied, by similar slowdowns in European nations.

As the new year starts, business is good in England, France and Italy, and an all-out boom is predicted for West Germany as a result of the decision to rearm that country. In other countries in the free world where the people are not as well off, they are living better than at any time in history.

Whether business depressions spread from one country to another because of economic or psychological factors, neither is operating today. The world economic picture confirms the predictions of continued or increasing prosperity in the United States.

No Cinderellas Wanted

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Anybody want to be a movie star? Well, now is the time to try.

"Fresh talent has more opportunity now than at any time I can remember," remarked film producer Hal B. Wallis.

"As more and more stars form their own companies and appear in fewer films, the supply of veteran players has diminished. The discovery of new talent has become a problem of real importance to the motion picture industry."

This statement by Wallis, however, is no invitation to every good looking stage-struck girl in Cornsop Corners to fly out to Hollywood and beat on his office door.

"The idea still exists that all one needs to get ahead in pictures is a pretty face or a good shape," he said. "If that was ever true once, it isn't true now."

"You have to have real acting talent—a spark of personality that the camera can catch. Anyone who really wants to get ahead in the movies should first try to get as much experience as possible in little theater work or playing summer stock."

"The Cinderella legend persists. It is said that many of the top film actresses got their start as elevator operators or soda fountain waitresses. Perhaps so. But I never have found any real talent while riding elevators or sitting at a drug fountain."

Wallis has a reputation in the industry as a star maker, and the record shows he has been one of its most astute judges of new talent. Among stars he introduced to the screen are Shirley Booth, Burt Lancaster, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Elizabeth Scott, Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey, Corinne Calvet and Charlton Heston.

"We find potential new stars by going to the theater, by watching television, by interviewing young bit players," he said.

"Sometimes, but very rarely, I sign up a new actor without even having him make a screen test. I saw Burt Lancaster in only one act of a Broadway play and signed him up the next day."

CHAPTER FIFTEEN
WHEN Morgan Channing and her blond companion came into the supper room, Lora's interest quickened as if she were attending a play. Wade, who was beside her, could not escape these two now, and she wondered what the unpredictable Morgan would do if she came face to face with him.

The encounter followed almost at once. Wade had not seen the two step into line behind him. Reaching toward a bowl of potato salad, he jostled Murray Norwood's arm and turned at once in apology. The flare of color to his face when he saw Morgan so near at hand was more than Lora had expected. She watched him, startled now, for the first time putting some belief in the things his mother had said.

Morgan spoke before Wade had completed his apology to Mr. Norwood. Her manner was easy as that of a lady who meets an old friend whom she has seen no longer ago than yesterday, but Lora found the look she turned upon Wade less casual.

"Good-evening, Wade. May I present Mr. Norwood? I think you and he may have a number of interests in common."

Wade set down his plate and took the other man's hand. He looked as if he wanted to ignore Morgan, but could not do so without being conspicuous. He spoke to her restrainedly, managing an exchange of pleasantries with Norwood before they started on about the table. Morgan had veiled the quick intensity of her first look and now seemed a little contemptuous and amused. This belied Mother Tyler's belief that she still wanted Wade, Lora thought. Surely a woman could not love a man and look at him so scornfully. At least she—Lora—could not.

In the dark early hours of the morning, when they drove home through falling snow, they had little to say. Obviously Wade was lost in memories of his own and wanted no breaking through on her part.

Lora went up to her room and lighted a candle. There, where she had left it in the middle of the floor the garnet-hued gown burned like a dark flame. She picked it up and hung it away in the wardrobe sadly. The green dress she carried back to Virginia's room to replace in the wardrobe there.

In the light from the candle she carried she saw with a start that Wade lay across the bed. When he heard her he sat up.

"I must ask you not to come in here again," he said, and his tone was colder than she had ever heard it.

She did not speak to him at all. She drew her robe close about her and hung the green gown away as quickly as she could. She did not look at him again as she turned and went out of the room, her shadow swaying up the wall as she moved. There was nothing in her now of pity or gentleness. She felt only a despairing impatience for the man on the bed, and she did not in the least care whether or not he knew it.

In spite of her few hours of sleep, Lora awoke while it was still dark on Christmas morning. For a few moments she lay quiet and warm beneath her quilts, feeling the weight of unhappiness pressing her down. She could not recall in the fog of sleep why she must feel unhappy, but knew only that despair lay waiting to engulf her as soon as she could remember.

Then recollection of the party and the ending last night swept back. But now she put the memory aside. Today was Jenny's day and neither she nor Wade mattered. Lora dressed and gathered up her packages and stole softly downstairs through the still, cold house. It wouldn't hurt to start a fire, even though it was early. She set her parcels down and knelt before the hearth in the parlor. The kindling responded with a lively snapping and when she was sure the blaze had caught fire she returned to distributing packages beneath the tree.

Before long she heard a creaking on the stairs and a moment later the door opened a crack and Jenny looked in uncertainly.

"Come in by the fire and get warm," said Lora cheerfully, as though he had never stormed at her last night because of the green dress.

Relieved, he sidled into the room in his nightshirt, his own arms filled with tissue-wrapped packages. Over one arm hung a long red and white striped stocking. He distributed the parcels beneath the tree and then turned to her doubtfully.

"I didn't know if I was supposed to hang up a stocking. Of course, I don't believe in all that chimney stuff, but I thought—" "Of course you're supposed to," Lora said. "But it should have been hung up on Christmas eve. Don't make such a mistake next year. Now you'll have to scotch back to bed while somebody fills it. It's much too early to be up for good anyway."

When she heard the stairs creak again she busied herself stuffing his stocking. The little paper weight with its snow scene went into the toe and on top of it went an orange with a green ribbon tied about its plump sides. Next a loose handful of nuts and a small packet of sweets, a little calendar with a bright angel pictured on it, and right at the top, hooked over the stocking edge, the washbone she had saved, graced with a big red bow.

By the time she was done the unhappy weight which she had awakened had lifted a little and she hummed to herself as she stood back to examine the effect of her work. The package looked gay and inviting, and by spreading them out to the best effect she had accomplished an illusion of plenty.

Miss Margaret McCallister Marries Carl G. Leasure

Church Ceremony Read In California

Miss Margaret Louise McCallister became the bride of Fireman 2nd Class Carl Gene Leasure of the U. S. Navy on Dec. 6. The ceremony was performed in the East San Diego Christian Church, San Diego, Calif., with the Rev. Lee Whipple and the Rev. Earl Christ officiating.

The former Miss McCallister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McCallister, 4227 — 36th St., San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Leasure is the son of Mrs. Arnold Moats of Circleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length original gown, with a Chantilly lace bodice and boat neck line, trimmed with iridescents. Her fingertip veil was of imported illusion, held in place by a crown of imported lace, pearls and sequin trim. Her bridal bouquet was of many tiny white orchids, grouped around one large orchid.

Miss Marilyn Miller of San Diego served as maid-of-honor. She wore a gown of poinsettia red chromspun taffeta and velvet, and carried a bouquet of white poinsettias. She wore a headpiece of pearls.

Miss Brenda Heiman, Miss Sally Harris, Miss Beverly Pohle and Miss Darlene Wallace were bridesmaids and wore gowns similar to the maid-of-honor's, and each carried white poinsettia bouquets.

Judy McNadden, Cathy McEchen, Shirley Moss and Carol Smith served as candle lighters, and wore gowns styled like the bridesmaids in green taffeta, with wrist corsages. The white candles were carried on silver holders, with white floor length streamers.

The flower girl was Miss Nancy Bentz of Bakersfield, Calif., a cousin of the bride. She was gown in red taffeta, and wore a coronet of pearls. She scattered flower petals along the bride's path to the altar.

Master Larry Huntley was the ring bearer and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Reichler Smith of San Diego served as best man, and the ushers were, Mr. John McCallister, brother of the bride, Mr. LaVern Kosta, Mr. Don Price and Mr. Louis Laphorne.

The organist for the wedding was Mrs. Reichler Smith, a close friend of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Don Price sang "The Lord's Prayer", and Mr. Kel Acker of the Star Light Opera Company of San Diego sang "O, Promise Me", and "Because".

A reception for 300 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

A large five tiered cake with a miniature bride and groom under an arch of lace and white wedding bells graced the table. The cake was decorated with wedding bells, roses and doves and was mirrored, with pillars just below the fifth tier of the cake.

Triple candelabra graced each end of the table with white carnations on either end, in low crystal dishes. Punch was served by Mrs. Ruth Ludly and Mrs. Frank Grokin.

The bride's mother was dressed in beige chromspun scrolled with brocade cotton with bronze accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The groom's mother chose a dress of mink brown, with pink ac-

Monrovia Club View Christmas Gift Wrappings

The Monrovia Garden Club held its annual Christmas party recently in the home of Mrs. Ernest Sheets. Main attraction of the event was a demonstration of gift wrapping given by Mrs. Harold Adkins and Mrs. Lewis Lower.

Club members brought gifts wrapped in keeping with the season to be judged by the demonstrators.

First place was awarded to Mrs. Ray Harden; second, to Mrs. Charles A. Fleming; third, to Mrs. Adrian Liston and honorable mention was given to Mrs. Harry Smith. Numbers were then drawn and gifts exchanged.

Twenty four gifts were Christmas wrapped and sent to the girls sewing class at the Orient State Institution.

The Christmas tour to view the homes of members who have decorated for competition will be on Saturday. The group will meet at the school at Five Points at 6 p. m. and will complete the tour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Fleming where refreshments will be served.

cessories, and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left, following the reception, for a honeymoon in Big Bear Mountain, San Fernando Valley, Calif. The new Mrs. Leasure chose for her going-away outfit a blue tweed suit with pink accessories. She wore white orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Hoover High School, San Diego, and is associated with the County of San Diego as a clerk typist.

The groom is a graduate of North High School, Columbus, and is serving in the United States Navy in San Diego.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Leasure will be at home to their friends at 4271 Central Ave., San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. Arnold Moats was accompanied to California by her son, Leo, and they visited with friends before returning this week.

Serve chilled red apples with Gouda cheese for a fine dessert.

Mrs. John Dunlap Presides During Auxiliary Meeting

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Philip's Church held its monthly meeting recently in the Parish House, with Mrs. John Dunlap presiding.

Mrs. George Fickardt, chairman of Christian Social Relations, reported that a large box of white handkerchiefs will be sent to the leper colony at Okinawa. Miss Bess Fry, supply chairman, said that three boxes of warm clothing will be shipped to the Farmington, New Mexico, Indian Mission.

Following the business meeting, the Circleville High School Girls' Sextette sang several Christmas carols and led the group in the traditional carol, "Silent Night".

Members of the sextette are Misses Lois Wittich, Betty Leist, Judy Hurst, Phyllis McFee, Elaine Woodward and Lucretia McNeal. They were accompanied by Miss Barbara Samuel at the piano. Miss Weta Mae and Betty Lou Leist played a medley of Christmas music on the accordions.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Bennett and Miss Bess Fry.

Next meeting of the Auxiliary will be a dinner meeting at the Parish Hall Jan. 11 with Sister Edna Brooks of White Hall, as the guest speaker. The film, "Life on Grange Confers Degrees On Four At Monroe Twp.

First and Second degrees were conferred on Mr. and Mrs. Austin Gates, Miss Betty Lou Beathard and Miss Marilyn Dudson when Star Grange met recently in Monroe Township school.

Worthy Master, Lawrence Reid was in charge of the meeting. Fifty-two subordinates and juvenile members were present.

The charter was draped in memory of Mr. Elmer Neff.

Mrs. Herman Porter, home economics chairman, gave a report on projects for the coming year. Christmas greetings were read from County Deputy Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dowler.

Christmas boxes were sent to four servicemen, and plans were made to prepare food baskets for the needy in the community.

Refreshment committee members were: Mr. and Mrs. Loring Stoer, Mrs. Barbara Stoer, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dennis, and Mrs. William Snyder and son, Billy.

The next meeting is set for Dec. 20, instead of Dec. 27 as originally planned. A gift exchange will be held at this meeting.

Miss Margaret McCallister Marries Carl G. Leasure

Church Ceremony Read In California

Miss Margaret Louise McCallister became the bride of Fireman 2nd Class Carl Gene Leasure of the U. S. Navy on Dec. 6. The ceremony was performed in the East San Diego Christian Church, San Diego, Calif., with the Rev. Lee Whipple and the Rev. Earl Christ officiating.

The former Miss McCallister is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McCallister, 4227 — 36th St., San Diego, Calif.

Mr. Leasure is the son of Mrs. Arnold Moats of Circleville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length original gown, with a Chantilly lace bodice and boat neck line, trimmed with iridescent. Her fingertip veil was of imported illusion, held in place by a crown of imported lace, pearls and sequin trim. Her bridal bouquet was of many tiny white orchids, grouped around one large orchid.

Miss Marilyn Miller of San Diego served as maid-of-honor. She wore a gown of poinsettia red chrysomys taffeta and velvet, and carried a bouquet of white poinsettias. She wore a headpiece of pearls.

Miss Brenda Heiman, Miss Sally Harris, Miss Beverly Pohle and Miss Darlene Wallace were bridesmaids and wore gowns similar to the maid-of-honor's, and each carried white poinsettia bouquets.

Judy McNadden, Cathy McEchren, Shirley Moss and Carol Smith served as candle lighters, and wore gowns styled like the bridesmaids in green taffeta, with wrist corsages. The white candles were carried on silver holders, with white floor length streamers.

The flower girl was Miss Nancy Bentz of Bakersfield, Calif., a cousin of the bride. She was gown in red taffeta, and wore a coronet of pearls. She scattered flower petals along the bride's path to the altar.

Master Larry Huntley was the ring bearer and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Reichler Smith of San Diego served as best man, and the ushers were, Mr. John McCallister, brother of the bride, Mr. LaVern Kosta, Mr. Don Price and Mr. Louis Laphorne.

The organist for the wedding was Mrs. Reichler Smith, a close friend of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Don Price sang "The Lord's Prayer", and Mr. Kel Ackers of the Star Light Opera Company of San Diego sang "O, Promise Me", and "Because".

A reception for 300 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

A large five tiered cake with a miniature bride and groom under an arch of lace and white wedding bells graced the table. The cake was decorated with wedding bells, roses and doves and was mirrored, with pillars just below the fifth tier of the cake.

Triple candelabra graced each end of the table with white carnations on either end, in low crystal dishes. Punch was served by Mrs. Ruth Ludly and Mrs. Frank Grokin.

The bride's mother was dressed in beige chrysomys scrolled with brocade cotton with bronze accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The groom's mother chose a dress of mink brown, with pink ac-

Bible Words To Live By

MATTHEW 11:28-30 — "Come to me, all who labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." (RSV)

This is the great church bell calling all men to Christ. As the church bell calls men to worship, this great bell peals out welcome to all who are burdened. Each one who heeds the invitation and turns to Christ is given rest for his soul. It is not the rest that comes from idleness. God does not give rest by exempting man from work or duty. This rest is serenity, the profound peace for a man's soul. Humanity in every generation seeks this rest. The cry of the human soul is, "Where can peace be found?" As Jesus looks on the world's weary, burdened people He longs to be their Friend, Teacher, Companion and Savior. The compassion of Christ gives this great invitation. "Come to Me" is His wonderful blessing. When accepted by man it gives him peace, poise, power, security, comfort and tranquility. Indeed it is the great invitation to all.

Dr. Eulis H. Hill
First Christian Church
Little Rock, Ark.

Romans 12:9-11 — "Let love be genuine. Love one another with brotherly affection; outdo one another in showing honor. Never flag in zeal, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord." (RSV)

This gem of Scripture is pointedly directed at Christians. Every man's life is controlled by some dominating idea or influence. These staccato commands flash challenges to the very heart of one who would follow Christ. In Christian living there is no place for pretense or a superficial ve-

If Eisenhower runs, he will make front pages because he is President of the United States, but his copy will be read with difficulty because his speech-writers are dull boys with never a smart phrase in their souls. Unless William Knowland is the Republican candidate, the same factory will grind out the Republican speeches. Knowland will get a factory of his own.

There is a further point the Sigma Delta Chi investigator might note: Adlai Stevenson made better speeches than Eisenhower did in 1952. Eisenhower was elected. Stevenson got plenty of newspaper space because he was a bit of a shock; but that did not elect him. So one asks, what part do the newspapers play to help the voter make up his mind? Now that would be an interesting psychological and sociological topic for study, because, as of today, nobody knows the answer.

I certainly hope that the guy who wants to handle $650,000 gets a chance at the money. When his name is announced, perhaps we shall give him a little scrutiny to make sure that he is not a Communist who hates elections anyhow. The Fund for the Republic, however, may not be around for the 1956 Election.

Hospital Aids Young Patients
CLEVELAND (AP) — A program to prevent child patients from feeling suddenly cut off from their accustomed way of life has been launched by City Hospital.

The program, which offers lessons in school learning and in living, is financed by a $15,000 grant from Cleveland Foundation. Instruction in various subjects is given in the areas of the hospital that have child patients. In addition, there is a special school room in the pediatrics building that is conducted like a little red schoolhouse for any children who can attend, except those with TB.

Bible Words To Live By

MATTHEW 11:28-30 — "Come to me, all who labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me; for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." (RSV)

This is the great church bell calling all men to Christ. As the church bell calls men to worship, this great bell peals out welcome to all who are burdened. Each one who hears the invitation and turns to Christ is given rest for his soul. It is not the rest that comes from idleness. God does not give rest by exempting man from work or duty. This rest is serenity, the profound peace for a man's soul. Humanity in every generation seeks this rest. The cry of the human soul is, "Where can peace be found?" As Jesus looks on the world's weary, burdened people He longs to be their Friend, Teacher, Companion and Savior. The compassion of Christ gives this great invitation. "Come to Me" is His wonderful blessing. When accepted by man it gives him peace, poise, power, security, comfort and tranquility. Indeed it is the great invitation to all.

Romans 12:9-11 — "Let love be genuine. Love one another with brotherly affection; outdo one another in showing honor. Never flag in zeal, be aglow with the Spirit, serve the Lord." (RSV)

This gem of Scripture is pointedly directed at Christians. Every man's life is controlled by some dominating idea or influence. These staccato commands flash challenges to the very heart of one who would follow Christ. In Christian living there is no place for pretense or a superficial ve-

If Eisenhower runs, he will make front pages because he is President of the United States, but his copy will be read with difficulty because his speech-writers are dull boys with never a smart phrase in their souls. Unless William Knowland is the Republican candidate, the same factory will grind out the Republican speeches. Knowland will get a factory of his own.

There is a further point the Sigma Delta Chi investigator might note: Adlai Stevenson made better speeches than Eisenhower did in 1952. Eisenhower was elected. Stevenson got plenty of newspaper space because he was a bit of a shock; but that did not elect him. So one asks, what part do the newspapers play to help the voter make up his mind? Now that would be an interesting psychological and sociological topic for study, because, as of today, nobody knows the answer.

I certainly hope that the guy who wants to handle $650,000 gets a chance at the money. When his name is announced, perhaps we shall give him a little scrutiny to make sure that he is not a Communist who hates elections anyhow. The Fund for the Republic, however, may not be around for the 1956 Election.

Dons Ready For Big Tilt In Chicago

Marquette All Primed To Upset Leaders, End Win Streak At 29

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Dons and their fabulous all-america Bill Russell shoot for their 30th straight victory against Marquette in Chicago tonight as the whirl of Christmas holiday major college basketball tournaments gets under way.

The Dons, who snared the NCAA crown last year on the great play of the 6-10 Russell, tangled with Marquette in the feature first round game of the DePaul Invitational. They will take the floor following the other first round game between Duquesne and DePaul. The winners play for the tourney title Saturday.

The Blue-Gray tournament at Montgomery, Ala., bringing together Auburn, Eastern Kentucky, Mississippi and Texas also opens tonight.

San Francisco is favored over Marquette, but the Warriors, a right smart team themselves, aren't conceding anything.

"We know we're up against the best team in the country," said Marquette coach Jack Nagle.

Kentucky nipped Maryland 62-61 in the top game of a Thursday night program that also saw Oklahoma defeat Arkansas 69-59, Tulsa take Western Kentucky 67-56, Oklahoma City trim Wyoming 65-59, Kansas State drug Los Angeles Loyola 92-66, Tufts upset Harvard 84-76, Yale scalp Wesleyan 97-36, Kentucky Wesleyan whip Hardin-Simmons 68-60, Tennessee wallops Springfield, (Mass) 67-33 and the Citadel end a 28-game losing streak by beating College of Charleston 56-52.

A turnout of 10,125—the biggest basketball crowd in the history of Maryland—saw the Terps put on a spirited rally after Kentucky had taken an early 20-8 lead.

With 2:58 left to play Vernon Hatton put Kentucky ahead 62-60. Adolph Rupp's lads tried to freeze the ball, but with 40 seconds left Maryland got possession. Bob O'Brien was fouled going in for a shot and he had a chance to tie the score. He made his first free throw, but missed the second.

Uclans Stressing Passing Offense

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The emphasis is on passing as UCLA continues its preparations for the Rose Bowl game against Michigan State.

The Michigan State squad arrives this afternoon. The Spartans will hold their workouts in the East Los Angeles Junior College stadium not far from their headquarters in Pasadena.

Joe Wilman Setting Pace In All-Star

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran Joe Wilman of Berwyn, Ill., and Anita Cantaline of Detroit held the top spots after the first day's competition in the finals of the National All Star Bowling Tournament.

Wilman, champion in 1945-46, continued his excellent sniping yesterday during the opening day's four four-game matches and held a 3.15 Petersen point lead over Dick Weber of St. Louis. Wilman has 79.34 points to Weber's 76.19.

Eddie Lubanski of Detroit, last season's runnerup, collected the most points, 3,353, as he finished third. Defending champion Steve Nagy of Detroit, plagued by an injured second finger on his throwing hand, won 8 games out of 16 for 72.14 points and 10th place.

Former champions Don Carter of St. Louis, and Dick Hoover, Akron, Ohio, were in fifth and sixth places, respectively.

Miss Cantaline, a bowling instructor, stole the thunder from 15 other contestants as she roared into the lead and held it. Her leading total was 39.05 points.

Anita won all her eight games and held a 1.63 point lead over Marge Merrick of Columbus, Ohio, who blasted Sylvia Wene, the defending champion, to move from fourth into second.

Miss Wene had won three earlier matches, beating Jeannette Grzelak, Rockford, Ill.; Laverne Carter, St. Louis, and Doris Porter, Los Angeles.

Willie Mays Cops Slugging Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays of the New York Giants captured the National League's slugging title for the second straight year last season.

The hard-hitting centerfielder compiled 382 total bases in 580 times at bat for a slugging mark of .659, official averages show.

Duke Snider of Brooklyn was the runnerup to Mays, pounding out 338 total bases in 538 at bats for a .628 average. Snider was followed by Eddie Mathes of Milwaukee with .601, Ernie Banks of Chicago with .596, Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati with .585 and Roy Campanella of the Dodgers with .583.

CHS Basketeers Back In Action; Travel To WCH

Traditional rivals will meet tonight as the Circleville Tigers and Kittens travel to Washington C. H.

CHS will be getting back into action following a two-week lay-off. The big question mark will be if the inactivity has hurt the Roundtowners or not.

Circleville has started off in good style, winning its first two contests in a row. The Blue Lions have a 3-2 record but all their victories have been by no more than six points.

The Fayette Countians seem to have a sparkplug in Dick English, a small guard. He has been on a scoring spree along with lanky center David Lee.

SOMETIMES overlooked in the onrush of varsity contests are the reserve squads. Circleville's Kittens are certainly taking no back seat to the Tigers for they too have won both of their outings.

However, the Kittens in winning their games have been able to roll with ease. Both times out, coach Dick Boyd has been able to substitute freely, thus giving the greatest number of boys a chance to get into the game.

Circleville returns to its home court next Friday when Wellston invades the E. Mill St. gym.

Major Players To Air Demands

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball club owners will get another chance to hear the players' proposals, which they rejected at their recent meeting in Chicago.

Commissioner Ford Frick Thursday promised the players' representatives, Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Bob Feller of the Indians, that he will see that the demands are resubmitted at a Feb. 4 meeting of the owners.

The two major items being pressed by the players are: Increase of minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200 and the right to participate in the negotiations for a new TV contract, which expires after the 1936 World Series.

Snead Fires Record Low In Sanford

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—San Snead is like wine; he seems to get better with age.

The Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is 43, and for a professional golfer that's up in years. But Sam isn't conceding Father Time a thing. He's looking, feeling and playing as well or better than ever.

In successive competitive rounds, he has turned in two record performances. As a result of his latest record-smashing effort, he started today's second round in the $15,000 Sanford Open Golf Tournament with a two-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

Snead's opening round 33-31-64, a 6-under-par effort, wiped out the old mark of 65 for the Mayfair Inn Country Club course set in the late 1930s by amateur Jim Spencer.

And it put him two strokes ahead of Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, one of the younger pros, and veteran Ted Kroll, Bethesda, Md.

Seven others deadlocked for fourth spot with 67s as 37 of the huge field shattered par and nine others matched it in the opening round. Par for the 6,205-yard course is 36-34-70.

Mike Souchak, former Duke football star who registers out of Grosinger's, N. Y., was one of those with a 67.

Billy Haughton Wins Sulky Crown

The 32-year-old Massapequa, N. Y., driver also established new all-time records. Haughton's 1935 earnings were $399,445. He won 168

Van Camp Gets Horse Trophy

George Van Camp of Oakwood Pl. was presented a trophy by the Home Talent Colt Association Stakes during a luncheon in Mt. Vernon Thursday.

The award was granted for his three-year-old filly, Cheetah Goose, which won the most heats in the Home Talent Colt Stakes held in various cities in Ohio.

This is the first time Van Camp ever won this trophy. He was accompanied to the luncheon by his wife and Mrs. Larry Athey of Circleville.

racers. The previous records, both set by Haughton last year, were $415,577 and 153 wins.

Louisiana Cager Nets 3000 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Hopkins, 6-9 Grambling (La.) College center, is the first college basketball player in history to score 3,000 points. He is averaging 33.8 points this season.

The lanky scoring ace reached and passed the mark last week in two games to run his career total to 3,062 in 103 games. According to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, Hopkins supplanted Carl Hartman of Al-derson-Broadus as the record holder. Hartman, who finished his four years of competition last year, scored 2,959.

Basketball Game Won By 135-133

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a new record for the National Basketball Assn. book today as the result of the Minneapolis Lakers 135-133 triumph in three overtime periods over the Syracuse Nationals.

The combined score of 268 points surpassed the old mark of 148 hung up by Syracuse and Anderson, Ind., in five overtimes in 1949. Syracuse won that one 125-123.

The only other game played last night, the Philadelphia Warriors, eastern division leaders, turned back the Fort Wayne Pistons 80-73.

Traditional rivals will meet tonight as the Circleville Tigers and Kittens travel to Washington C. H. CHS will be getting back into action following a two-week lay-off. The big question mark will be if the inactivity has hurt the Roundtowners or not.

Circleville has started off in good style, winning its first two contests in a row. The Blue Lions have a 3-2 record but all their victories have been by no more than six points.

The Fayette Couptians seem to have a sparkplug in Dick English, a small guard. He has been on a scoring spree along with lanky center David Lee.

SOMETIMES overlooked in the onrush of varsity contests are the reserve squads. Circleville's Kittens are certainly taking no back seat to the Tigers for they too have won both of their outings.

However, the Kittens in winning their games have been able to roll with ease. Both times out, coach Dick Boyd has been able to substitute freely, thus giving the greatest number of boys a chance to get into the game.

Circleville returns to its home court next Friday when Wellston invades the E. Mill St. gym.

Major Players To Air Demands

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball club owners will get another chance to hear the players' proposals, which they rejected at their recent meeting in Chicago.

Commissioner Ford Frick Thursday promised the players' representatives, Robin Roberts of the Phillies and Bob Feller of the Indians, that he will see that the demands are resubmitted at a Feb. 4 meeting of the owners.

The two major items being pressed by the players are: Increase of minimum salary from $8,000 to $7,200 and the right to participate in the negotiations for a new TV contract, which expires after the 1956 World Series.

Snead Fires Record Low In Sanford

SANFORD, Fla. (AP)—San Snead is like wine; he seems to get better with age.

The Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is 43, and for a professional golfer that's up in years. But Sam isn't conceding Father Time a thing. He's looking, feeling and playing as well or better than ever.

In successive competitive rounds, he has turned in two record performances. As a result of his latest record-smashing effort, he started today's second round in the $15,000 Sanford Open Golf Tournament with a two-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

Snead's opening round 33-31-64, a 6-under-par effort, wiped out the old mark of 65 for the Mayfair Inn Country Club course set in the late 1930s by amateur Jim Spencer.

And it put him two strokes ahead of Dow Finsterwald of Athens,

Ohio, one of the younger pros, and veteran Ted Kroll, Bethesda, Md.

Seven others deadlocked for fourth spot with 67s as 37 of the huge field shattered par and nine others matched it in the opening round. Par for the 6,205-yard course is 36-34-70.

Mike Souchak, former Duke football star who registers out of Grosinger's, N. Y., was one of those with a 67.

Billy Haughton Wins Sulky Crown

The 32-year-old Massapequa, N. Y., driver also established new all-time records. Haughton's 1953 earnings were $599,445. He won 168

Van Camp Gets Horse Trophy

George Van Camp of Oakwood Pl. was presented a trophy by the Home Talent Colt Association Stakes during a luncheon in Mt. Vernon Thursday.

The award was granted for his three-year-old filly, Cheetah Goose, which won the most heats in the Home Talent Colt Stakes held in various cities in Ohio.

This is the first time Van Camp ever won this trophy.

He was accompanied to the luncheon by his wife and Mrs. Larry Athey of Circleville.

The previous records, both set by Haughton last year, were $415,577 and 153 wins.

Louisiana Cager Nets 3000 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Hopkins, 6-9 Grambling (La.) College center, is the first college basketball player in history to score 3,000 points. He is averaging 33.8 points this season.

The lanky scoring ace reached two games to run his career total to 3,062 in 103 games. According to figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, Hopkins supplanted Carl Hartman of Alderson-Broadus as the record holder. Hartman, who finished his four years of competition last year, scored 2,959.

Basketball Game Won By 135-133

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a new record for the National Basketball Assn. book today as the result of the Minneapolis Lakers 135-133 triumph in three overtime periods over the Syracuse Nationals.

The combined score of 268 points surpassed the old mark of 143 hung up by Syracuse and Anderson, Ind., in five overtimes in 1949. Syracuse won that one 125-123.

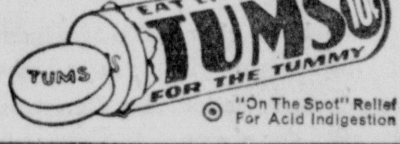

The only other game played last night, the Philadelphia Warriors, eastern division leaders, turned back the Fort Wayne Pistons 80-73.

Legal Notices

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS,
PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO.
IN THE MATTER OF THE CON-VEYANCE OF CERTAIN EASE-
MENTS OVER THE REAL ESTATE OF THE EMMETT CHAPEL METH-ODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, AN UNINCORPORATED RELIGIOUS SOCIETY.

NO. 21575
Notice is hereby given to the officers and members of The Emmett Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church of Pick-away County, Ohio, an unincorporated religious society, and to all others whom it may concern, that on the 30th day of November, 1955, Wells M. Wilson, Frank Graves, Curtis Bower, Cora
R. Hood, Pryor T. Harcourt, Lawrence
Grisson and Austin Wilson, as trustees of The Emmett Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church of Pickaway County, Ohio, filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, in Cause No. 21575 praying for authority to sell and convey to the Director of Highways, State of Ohio, a perpetual easement over the real estate now used for Church purposes and held by said trustees through deed recorded in Vol. 26 page 358 Pickaway County
Deed Records, for all rights or easements of access to the Highway known as State Route No. U. S. 23 and for authority to expend the funds thereby derived for the purpose of enlarging and improving a parking area upon the church premises.

Said easement being described as follows:
Situate in Section 12, Township 3,
Range 22, Pickaway Township,
Pickaway County, Ohio and abutting said limited access highway Right of Way between point 95.50 feet right of station 128-18.77, being the intersection of the grantors southerly property line and the existing easterly right of way line of said highway, and the grantors northerly property line at a point 94 feet right of station 128-54.56 except for drive 20 feet in width on the right of station 128-29 as shown on Parcel
No. 128-29 as shown by the plans for said improvement which are on file with the Department of Highways,
Columbus, Ohio.
The stations hereinbefore referred to are the stations of a centerline of survey made by the Department of Highways in 1953 of U. S.
State Route No. 23, and recorded in Deed Book 146, page 568 of the records of Pickaway County.
Said cause will be for hearing on or after the 31 day of December, 1955.

Legal Notices

Any person, Church or congregation claiming an interest in the subject matter of said petition may appear and file an answer in said cause on or before said hearing date.

LEGAL NOTICE
COURT OF COMMON PLEAS,
PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO
IN THE MATTER OF THE CONVEYANCE OF CERTAIN EASEMENTS OVER THE REAL ESTATE OF THE EMMETT CHAPEL METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, AN UNINCORPORATED RELIGIOUS SOCIETY.

Notice is hereby given to the officers and members of The Emmett Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church of Pickaway County, Ohio, an unincorporated religious society, and to all others whom it may concern, that on the 30th day of November, 1955, Wells M. Wilson, Frank Graves, Curtis Bower, Cora R. Hood, Pryor T. Harcourt, Lawrence Grissom and Austin Wilson, as trustees of The Emmett Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church of Pickaway County, Ohio, filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, in Cause No. 21573 praying for authority to sell and convey to the Director of Highways, State of Ohio, a perpetual easement over the real estate now used for Church purposes and held by said trustees of said church, as set forth in Vol. 26 page 358 Pickaway County Deed Records, for all rights or easements of said church, known as the State Route No. 23, and for authority to expend the funds thereby derived for the purpose of enlarging and improving a parking area upon the church premises.

Said easement being described as follows: Situate in Section 12, Township 3, Range 22, Pickaway Township, Pickaway County, Ohio and abutting said limited access highway Right of Way between a point 55.60 feet right of station 128.71, being the intersection of the grantors southerly property line and the existing easterly right of way line of said highway, and the grantors northerly property line at a point 94 feet right of station 130.54 except for a drive 20 feet in width on the right of station 128.29 as shown on Parcel No. 10A as shown by the plans for said improvement which are on file with the Department of Highways, Columbus, Ohio.

The stations hereinbefore referred to are the stations of a centerline of a survey made by the Department of Highways, State of Ohio, U.S. State Route No. 23, and recorded in Deed Book 146, page 568 of the records of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Said cause will be for hearing on or after the 31 day of December, 1955.

Legal Notices

Any person, Church or congregation claiming an interest in the subject matter of said petition may appear and file an answer in said cause on or before said hearing date.

Officials Here Face Intricate Problems

Judges, Commissioners To Set Up Districts And Salaries For JP's

One of the most controversial problems in many years is confronting county officials here.

After Jan. 1, under legislation passed by the last Ohio Assembly, justices of the peace are to receive salaries from the county. In turn, they will no longer retain fees in criminal cases.

However, the problem facing county commissioners is how much to pay the magistrates. A board consisting of Common Pleas Judge William Radcliff, Probate Judge Guy Cline and chairman of the county commissioners Bill Goode, is supposed to establish "districts" in which JP's will serve.

But that makes for another tough decision. Officials point out they have no precedent to go by in determining what should constitute a "district", or on what a salary should be based.

C. WILLIAM O'NEILL, faced with numerous inquiries on the same questions, has replied:

"I conclude that it is the intent of the Legislature (for) the board of county commissioners need not fix a salary which is to be paid uniformly to all justices. . . (Officials here raised the question of whether or not one JP could be paid more than others in the county.)

Tied in with this problem are the township constables. One man was recently elected constable of Circleville Township and this caused quite a bit of discussion on what compensation he would get. (Under the law, township trustees may fix a salary—but are not required to do so.)

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer has pointed out that the constable cannot collect any fees either, unless he serves as bailiff for the JP. Circleville Township, he added, is covered by city court, which has its own bailiff. On the question of establishing

"districts" in which the justices are to serve, county officials have a major task. A number of JP's live in the same general area, making it almost impossible to divide up the county into "quarters", for example.

PICKAWAY County officials are not the only ones faced with these difficult problems. Other counties jumped the gun and established salaries for their existing JP's—but when election time came and additional JP's were voted in, the counties were face to face with a problem which in some cases they could not handle.

One thing is generally agreed upon, according to officials here. No money will be appropriated for JP's until next year until new budgets have been set up and county commissioners can get a clear view of the coming financial picture.

Apparently no county wants to take the first step. But state officials have not helped the situation either—they merely suggest that the county "use its own discretion".

U. S. Science Student Pool Far Too Short

CLEVELAND (AP)—The "race" to tame the H-bomb reaction for peacetime power could be lost to Russia or some other nation unless the United States overcomes a "mounting shortage" of manpower in every field of science and engineering, says the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

In fact, declared Lewis L. Strauss recently, the shortage has become so "grim" that "all of our blessings, even our freedom, would be endangered." He said:

"I am confident that the day will come, although probably not for years, when the way will be found to produce nuclear power by harnessing the same energy release that we assume is taking place in the sun—the process of the controlled fusion of light nuclei (the H-bomb reaction).

"Scientists in the commission's laboratories are at work on the problem, searching for the key—the elusive 'big idea' that could revolutionize the atomic art.

"But our people are not the only ones. Competent scientists in other countries are equally hard at work, trying to find the same 'big idea.'"

"Unless we have scientists and engineers, in quality and numbers, we could lose this race."

The AEC chief said that while American colleges are turning out less than half the number of scientists and engineers required in all fields—the shortage "will become worse before we can possibly correct it"—Soviet Russia is educating twice as many such technicians as this nation is.

He's 'Mean Thief'

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Someone who swiped $100 worth of candy from the nearby Latonia Baptist Church yesterday has earned the title of "meanest thief of the year." The candy was to be used at a Christmas party.

War Hero Blames Bottle For Trouble

BALTIMORE (AP)—Junior James Spurrier, World War II Medal of Honor winner got a break from a judge Thursday after insisting he was off the bottle.

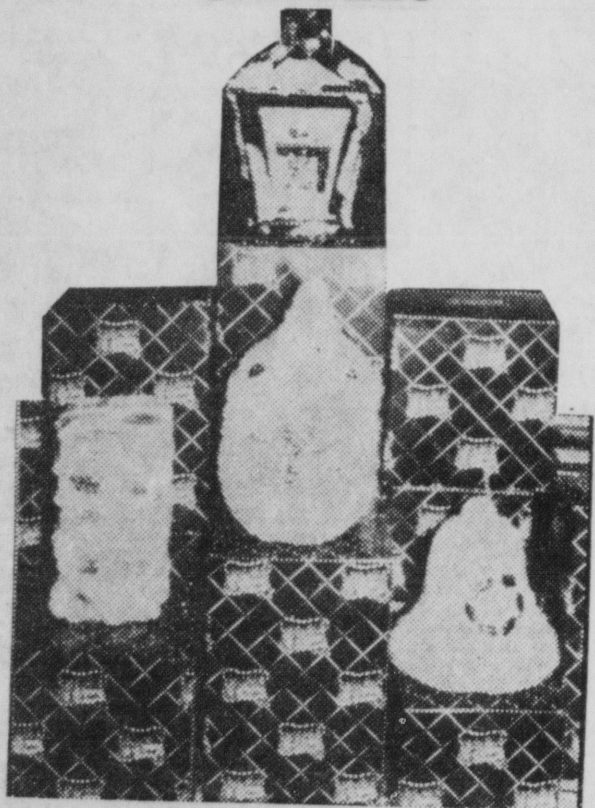

The 22-year-old Spurrier told Circuit Judge Joseph Byrnes he "hit the bottle" and blamed drinking for a tiff with his girl friend during which he fired a shot into the floor to scare the woman with whom she was staying.

After Spurrier agreed to drop his appeal from a six-month jail sentence, Judge Byrnes released him on probation without verdict. The judge also fined Spurrier, a television repairman, $5 for discharging firearms, $25 for disturbing the peace and $50 for carrying a deadly weapon.

Waitress Refuses Service To Thug

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Winnie Caroland, 32, doesn't figure her job as a waitress includes dishing out cash to holdup men. So when the handit entered the Dinette grill—hand in pocket—and demanded the money in the cash register, she told him, "If you want the money, get it yourself." He did, making off with $25.

"I conclude that it is the intent of the Legislature (for) the board of county commissioners need not fix a salary which is to be paid uniformly to all justices..." (Officials here raised the question of whether or not one JP could be paid more than others in the county.)

Tied in with this problem are the township constables. One man was recently elected constable of Circleville Township and this caused quite a bit of discussion on what compensation he would get. (Under the law, township trustees may fix a salary—but are not required to do so.)

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer has pointed out that the constable cannot collect any fees either, unless he serves as bailiff for the JP. Circleville Township, he added, is covered by city court, which has its own bailiff. On the question of establishing

"districts" in which the justices are to serve, county officials have a major task. A number of JP's live in the same general area, making it almost impossible to divide up the county into "quarters", for example.

PICKAWAY County officials are not the only ones faced with these difficult problems. Other counties jumped the gun and established salaries for their existing JP's—but when election time came and additional JP's were voted in, the counties were face to face with a problem which in some cases they could not handle.

One thing is generally agreed upon, according to officials here. No money will be appropriated for JP's until next year until new budgets have been set up and county commissioners can get a clear view of the coming financial picture.

Apparently no county wants to take the first step. But state officials have not helped the situation either—they merely suggest that the county "use its own discretion".

U. S. Science Student Pool Far Too Short

CLEVELAND (AP)—The "race" to tame the H-bomb reaction for peacetime power could be lost to Russia or some other nation unless the United States overcomes a "mounting shortage" of manpower in every field of science and engineering, says the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

In fact, declared Lewis L. Strauss recently, the shortage has become so "grim" that "all of our blessings, even our freedom, would be endangered." He said:

"I am confident that the day will come, although probably not for years, when the way will be found to produce nuclear power by harnessing the same energy release that we assume is taking place in the sun—the process of the controlled fusion of light nuclei (the H-bomb reaction)."

"Scientists in the commission's laboratories are at work on the problem, searching for the key—the elusive 'big idea' that could revolutionize the atomic art."

"But our people are not the only ones. Competent scientists in other countries are equally hard at work, trying to find the same 'big idea.'"

"Unless we have scientists and engineers, in quality and numbers, we could lose this race."

The AEC chief said that while American colleges are turning out less than half the number of scientists and engineers required in all fields—the shortage "will become worse before we can possibly correct it"—Soviet Russia is educating twice as many such technicians as this nation is.

War Hero Blames Bottle For Trouble

BALTIMORE (AP)—Junior James Spurrier, World War II Medal of Honor winner got a break from a judge Thursday after insisting he was off the bottle.

The 22-year-old Spurrier told Circuit Judge Joseph Byrnes he "hit the bottle" and blamed drinking for a tiff with his girl friend during which he fired a shot into the floor to scare the woman with whom she was staying.

After Spurrier agreed to drop his appeal from a six-month jail sentence, Judge Byrnes released him on probation without verdict. The judge also fined Spurrier, a television repairman, $5 for discharging firearms, $25 for disturbing the peace and $50 for carrying a deadly weapon.

Waitress Refuses Service To Thug

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Mrs. Winnie Caroland, 32, doesn't figure her job as a waitress includes dishing out cash to holdup men. So when the bandit entered the Dinette grill—hand in pocket—and demanded the money in the cash register, she told him, "If you want the money, get it yourself." He did, making off with $25.
